CONTEMPT OF CORT IS THE CHARGE They Decline o Give Bond Though O/1y $3,000.

MANY TELEGRAMS SHOWN TO THE COURT All the Contempt Cases Are Set for a Hearing of Monday Next-Judge seaman Presided.

Chicago, buly 17 .- The reports that additional proceedings were likely to be taken by the feeral authorities against President his associate officers of the Railway Union had the effect of a hig crowd to the United States circuit courtroom in the government building this morning.

Judge Seaman, of Milwaukee, presided in the absence of Judge Grosscup. Mr. Debs was present at the opening of court, accompanied by W. W. Erwin, the noted eripinal lawyer of St. Paul; W. A. Shoemaker, of St. Paul, Erwin's law associate, and S. S. Gregory, of this city, who was leading counsel of Prendergast in the inacy proceedings that followed the assassin's conviction, and who has been retained as special counsel for the union. As soon as a few minor cases had been disposed of Mr. Gregory stepped to the bar, announced the presence of Debs and inquired whether the hearing was to go on

Judge Seaman replied that the case would proceed as soon as District Attorney'Milchrist was ready. At 11 o'clock the district attorney, accompanied by Edwin Walker. special counsel for the government, and George R. Peck, special counsel for the Santa Fe road, appeared in the courtroom, and Judge Seaman ordered that the case, on hearing, be summarily postponed.

Judge Seaman remarked to Mr. Walker: 'The situation is such that your matter should be taken at once." Special Counsel Walker then opened the oceedings proper with a brief statement. He said that he was desirous of presenting to the court an information against people on behalf of the United States government and to ask that a writ of attachment be issued for the persons named therein. In addition another information was offered in behalf of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe road, this road being in the hands of United States receivers. The information in behalf of the government, he said, set forth that on July 2d Judges Wood and Grosscup Issued an Injunction restraining Debs and his associates from interfering with interstate commerce or with the transportation of United States mails, or from exercising terror or violence against railroad employes engaged in their work. Personal service of this injunction was made on the defendants concerned, but in spite of it they continued to call out men and ordered strikes on lines within the city of Chicago and the district adjacent to and within the jurisdiction of the court. This dally, and li be said hourly, and the government desired such action and such punishment as the court might see fit.

Injunctions Defled. The lengthy information was then read by District Attorney Milchrist. It set forth the facts already stated, and quoted scores of telegrams sent by Debs after the injunction had been issued. These have never been published and had evidently come into the possession of the government within a few hours, under circumstances that counsel would not explain. Some were addressed to Phelan, the Cincinnati organizer, just sentenced for contempt by Judge Taft; others to C. McAuliffe, at Milwaukee; others to Livingston, in Montana; others to employes of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Big Four and Santa Fe railroads. All urged the men to go out, and stay out. One dispatch read: "It will take more than injunctions to move trains. Get men out." This was addressed to W. F. Smith, Grand Junction, Col. Many other dispatches were of the same tenor. One said: "Do not be frightened by troops, injunctions or the subsidized press. Call out your men. This is a contest of plutocracy against the masses and we will win and protect our supporters." The co rt interfered at this point with the suggestion that it did not want to hear any more dispatches. Enough had been read to indicate a persistent violation of the injunction. read a resume of the loss of property occasioned by the mob during the past two weeks; of assaults upon engineers, firemen and others who continued at work, and of the interruptions of traffic that had occurred since the injunction had gone into

Debs listened with close attention. The Question of Contempt. At the conclusion of the reading the district attorney contended that the defendants were clearly in contempt and should be attached and punished.

Then General Counsel Peck, of the Santa Fe road, stepped to the bar and read another long information charging the defendants with interference with the operacontempt attachment.

The court asked the defendants if they were represented by counsel and Mr. Greg-ory responded. He said that Debs was in oluntarily, although it was understood that there would be an ex parte application. The government did not deem best to charge either of the four defendants with personally participating in vio-lence nor had a case been stated that was cognizable in a court of equity.

With considerable heat, Mr. Gregory said that he did not understand that the government's information was for the protection of the railroads or that the movement was to be used as an agency to vindicate the property rights of railroads. That seemed to be what Mr. Peck wanted, but it would be want Mr. Peck wanted, but it would bound passed to be yery unfortunate if any action of the court gave color to that claim. The entire country was concerned in this matter and it must be kept free of biases.

Air. Walker responded that the government did not propose to protect railroad property except so far as interstate com-merce and mails were concerned. To this the judge added: "We are not here for any other purpose."

Continuing, Mr. Walker said that the government represented all the people, the de-fendants included, and it would not end its authority to the protection of railroad property within the lines indicated.

Finally the court cut the discussion short by ordering the issuance of attachments for contempt against Debs, Howaru, Keliher States marshal to waive service on the un-derstanding that the defendants would voluntarily surrender at the bar of the court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Dens Behind Time, When the court met at 2 o'clock Howard, Keliher and Rogers were present, but Debs was not on hand. His name was called and there being no response it was decided to stay proceedings until he put in an appear-trifle impatient, when, at 2:20 o'clock, Debs came into court, panting for breath.

Then Attorney Erwin asked the indulgence of five minutes for consultation and the court acquiesced. After this the presence of the defendants was announced to Attorney Erwin exploded a bombshell by stating that if the defendants were compelled to give bail on the charge of contempt they must go to jail, for the bail already demanded on the indictments found in the district court had exhausted their ability in that direction. Unless the court accepted their own recognizances, then it was a matter of jail or nothing else.

All Four Off to Jail. Mr. Erwin made an impassioned speech, saying that at the proper time, the indictment would be demurred to and the issue would be raised whether the unchecked operations of capitalistic tyranny could introduce the methods of a British monarchy. These men had never committed any act of violence. The conscience of the court was being whipped to resort to extreme and un-

Judge Seaman set the train of the con tempt cases for Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He fixed the additional ball at $3,000 each and ordered the four men to be held in custody of the United States marshal until the sureties had been approved.

At 3:15 o'clock p. m., after a conference with their attorneys, Debs announced for himself and the three other defendants that they would go to jail and refuse to give additional ball on the ground that their bondsmen in the other cases had been so bitterly attacked by the press that they feel a great deal of hesitancy in asking any more citizens to go additional bail for them. Debs in Jail.

A score, or more of friends clustered around around them and urged them to reconsider their determination. One of the number said he was worth half a million dollars and would go bail for the entire quartet. Others offered to become individual surety for the several defendants.

Debs, however, was obdurate, and in his determination he was supported by his as-In the meantime the orders of commit-nent were made out by the clerk of court. Marshal Arnold had been summoned, and with him he brought Deputies J. W. Forsythe and G. H. Jones. A final effort was made to induce the defendants to accept the proffers of their friends, but without result. At 4:30 o'clock Marshal Arnold escorted them to an open carriage, in which they were driven to the county jail on the

On their arival at the fall the prisoner were courteously received by Jailer Morris and Jail Clerk Whitman. The marshal did the introductory honors and the prisonrs shook hands cordially with their new custodians. No feature of jail methods was however, relaxed in their behalf. At the demand of the turnkey they held up their hands and submitted to a search. They were deprived of all valuables and then led to spacious and roomy cells in the debtors' department. President Debs and Vice President Howard were assigned No. 5 and Rogers and Keliher to No. 6. It was arranged with the jail officers that meals should be served from a neighboring restaurant and the prisoners were then left alone for the night.

Meeting of the Strikers. A largely attended meeting of railroad strikers was held in Uhlic hall today to hear the reports of the committees selected to report the condition of the strike on the roads they formerly worked for. Some of the reports were not as indicative of success as the leaders expected. A former Nickel Plate employe reported that more than half the strikers had retuned to work. The majority of the strikers are now switchmen, trainmen and shop to work, but permission was refused.

Vice President Howard made a speech in which he claimed that four-fifths of the switchmen, trainmen and shopmen were still out, 40 per cent of the engineers and 25 per cent of the firemen. He declared that the roads were operating 90 per cent of the passenger trains and 25 per cent of the freight. He closed by saying: "Mr. Rodgers and I have got into court now, and it is possible that we may have to go to jail. We may even be kept there, though a writ of habeas corpus may liberate us. The way to end this thing is for every workingman in Chicago to drop his tools. complying with the law, however.'

Assaulting the New Men. Assaulting the New Men.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 17.—The new men employed on the Fort Wayne railroads in the yards and as trainmen are hourly submitted to most brutal assaults from the discharged men. Last night Arthur Baldwin, a Nickel Plate switchman, was found in the yards insensible. Three other switchmen and a caliboy were violently stoned. This morning Conductor Mulcahy, of the Pennsylvania, was knocked down by a large rock and kicked in the face. Three switchmen in the Pennsylvania yards were clubbed and relieved of their lanterns. Both Nickel Plate and Wabash passanger trains were stoned.

Christian Hess, the only riofer arrested, fired two shots at Captain Borgman, of the city police, before he surrendered.

Attempt to Wreck a Train. Benham, Tex., July 1.—Train wreckers yesterday attempted to ditch the west-bound passenger train two miles east of Dodge City, by stretching a large steel chain across the rails. The obstruction was discovered by Sherifi Clancey, who was on horseback. He urged his animal in a breakneck pace towards the approaching train and succeeded in stopping it within a few test of the obstruction. GORMAN'S AID WON. PLAYS NO FAVORITE.

MR, CLEVELAND IS FOR FREE COAL.

The President Half Promises to Come to Georgia in the Fall to See Macon's Fair.

Washington, July 17 .- (Special.)-The senate appropriations committee again failed to take up the Atlanta exposition bill today, as Senator Gordon was still absent. Tomorrow it will, however, have to do so as the senate is nearly through with appropriation bills and the sundry civil bill must be reported.

Senator Gordon returned this afternoon and did some work among the senators. Senator Walsh and Captain Howell were hobnobbing with members of the committee all day. Senators Gorman and Brice promised to aid them, with Chairman Cockrell, of the committee, but up to a late hour tonight Mr. Cockrell has refused to give out any definite statement as to what he will do. Of course he has it in his power to defeat the bill, but it is not deemed probable that he will do so. The strongest possible pressure has been brought to bear upon him and it is believed that he will permit a favorable report.

much more hopeful tonight than they have been for several days. Tomorrow is expected to decide the fate of the bill; a report from the committee will mean that it will pass the senate and then the conference committee. So everything now depends on Senator Cockrell.

Captain Howell regrets that he has to be away from home tomorrow, when the primary is held, but he considers it very necessary to remain here with the exposition bill and see it safely through the sen-

May Visit Macon.

Judge Hardeman and Mr. Dessau, of Macon, accompanied by Senator Walsh, Secretary Smith and Representatives Black, Tate and Turner, called upon the president this morning and invited him to the Macon State fair. Mr. Cleveland greeted the delegation with extreme cordiality. He said he would enjoy a trip to Georgia very much and would accept the invitation and visit the fair provided it would be possible to do so at that time. Messrs. Hardeman and Dessau then called upon Vice President Stevenson, Secretary Carlisle and Mr. William L. Wilson and likewise invited them. All three promised to accept provided duties as the time would permit.

The Usual Bluff. The conference committee on the tariff bill has gotten into a squabble which can only end by one or the other committees surrendering. The committees from the respective houses find they can agree on all but augar, coal and from. The senate conferees are willing to accede to the de-On these three items the senate people hav notified the house that no change can be made from the senate bill; the house must accept the senate schedules or the bill will be defeated. The house conferees have resed to do this and the committee is dead locked. The republicans were called in at 2 o'clock today and notified that no agreement had been reached. Then the conference adjourned until 2 o'clock tomorrow. The house conferees say coal must be free.

Cleveland for Free Coal. Mr. Cleveland has taken a hand in the fight for free coal and has urged the house conferees to insist upon it. But the senators say they cannot agree to any change. As the duty in the senate bill is only 40 cents a ton there is no compromise ground. It must be 40 cents or free. One side must surrender. It is the same way on iron ore. On the sugar schedule the senate conferees refuse pointedly to make any concession They say with free silver or even a flat ad valorem duty the bill could never pass the senate. The "conservatives" would not permit it. There was talk today that the conference would report disagreement to the two houses, but that has been reconsidered. Further attempts will be made to sidered. Further attempts will be made to agree. The senators seem very firm in holding out for their sugar, coal and iron schedules. They are willing to concede everything else to the house. It seems that the final result will have to be on this line. Washington, July 17.—The combilation of the official data taken on the trial trip of the cruiser, Minneapolis, shows ner to be not only the fastest ship in the American navy, if not in the world, but faster even than was supposed. When the trial was completed last Saturday, the rough calculation made of her time placed her speed at 23:05 knots per hour, but the calculations made by the naval experts show that she accomplished the wonderful average of 23:073 knots. This will be her official rating, and on it the premium for excess of speed will be allowed. > ELLERBE GETS ON A HIGH HORSE. He Jumps on Larry Gantt for Fighting Him. GARY EVANS ANSWERS HIS COUSIN-

Says Ellerbe Is Like a 'Possum Dog That Has to Be Dragged Into the Race

Barnwell, S. C., July 17 .- (Special.)-Governor Tillman announced today that neither Evans nor Ellerbe was entitled to a place on his coat tails in the gubernatorial handicap. The campaign meeting here today elicited some interesting contributions to the general mix up in reform politics.

and Jerked Out.

Gubernatorial Candidate Ellerbe an nounced that Tillman was largely responsible for his being in the race, and called upon the governor to "enumerate" himself as some wag did with Charles Dana. The governor's specifications were not very detailed, but he informed the Marion swamp fox and the Aiken game cock that they must fight it out between themselves, and that he was "hands off."

It begins to appear as if matters are coming to a head in the gubernatorial race. There were about 800 persons here today. The meeting was held under the trees whereon the eight negroes were lynched five or six years ago, and the platform is made memorable as being that upon which Governor Tillman, two years ago, at the first meeting of the campaign, declared he would, as governor, lead a mob to lynch a negro who raped a white woman.

General Ellerbe, referring to an article in The Louisville Herald, an Evans organ, his treachery to Tillman, said this was the first time he had ever been called a traitor and no man dared characterize him so to his face. He had been the personal and political friend of Tillman ever since he be gan his fight, nine years ago, and he would ask if Tillman had ever doubted it. He challenged The Herald to prove him guilty of treachery.

Ellerbe Jumps on Gantt. Ellerbe said that Larry Gantt misrepre sented him in regard to having favored a snapshot convention. Before expressing himself concerning such a convention he had visited Governor Tillman, as representative of the reform movement, and found that he lavored an early convention. The governor afterwards changed his mind. Ellerbe de nied having attended any caucus at Wright's hotel in Columbia, as charged by Gantt. The only one he attended was a Tillman's house, and no man was mentioned for governor. As to Gantt's charge that he attended the Sunday caucus in Spartanburg, Ellerbe said that he, W. D. Evans, Neal, Shell and McLaurin were in the parlor for several hours during a rain, but did not discuss the governorship. On that day Neal asked Shell and McLaurin if they were going to vote for Tillman for

I want to know how it is these men continue misrepresenting me. Tinman said the people wanted a farmer for governor, and I was persuaded to make the fight."

A voice—"Why do the conservatives want Ellerbe-"I don't know. I would rather have the good will of a dog than his bad will. If they vote for me with the expectation that I will compromise the principles of the reform party they will be badly mis-Ellerbe urged the people not to turn the farmers' movement into a lawyers' movement by electing Evans. He was loudly applauded throughout his speech.

Like a 'Possum Dog. John Gary Evans was the next to speak. He compared Ellerbe to a 'possum dog that had to be pulled into a race by the ears, and jerked out by the tail. Ellerbe talked about alliance principles, but had quit the alliance to make money.

A voice-"Well, you want to make some too." (Laughter.) Govenor Tiliman unlimbered himself to explain things. He said he was glad to have two such friends as Evans and Ellerbe, and either one would make a good govbe, and either one would make a solver ernor for South Carolina, "but I don't want either one to say he is my candidate. You know who you want, and it's none of my business." The governor declared that Ellerbe was mistaken in saying that he favored an early convention of reformers. He had favored a convention some time or He had favored a convention some time or other in order to select one man among the reform candidates to pit against the entis. He had nothing to do with the caucus that called it. An effort had recently been made to call it off. "Why, I do not know. You caucus in Columbia.

Simply Encouraged Ellerbe.

"As for my bringing Ellerbe out for governor," said Governor Tillman, "I have this to say: There had been talk of a farmer for governor, and I had been giving lawyers the devil now and then, and when Ellerbe mentioned the matter to me I asked him where was there a farmer to bring out. He named several and I said I didn't believe the people would elect any of them. I then said, 'why don't you run?' I told him if he did I would 'hands off.'

A voice—"Evans will get my vote."

The governor—"All right. Vote for him if you want to, but don't do so because he is my candidate, for Tillman would be equally satisfied with either."

A voice—"Tillman is the head of the whole equally satisfied with either."

A voice—"Tillman is the head of the whole damn business." (Laughter.)

The governor abused Judge Simonton right and left, declaring that when Judge Bond died, Receiver Chamberlain, of the South Carolina road, sent word to New York: "Here's a bully fellow. He will do our dirty work every time," and Cleveland appointed Simonton in Hond's place.

A voice—"How about the Chicago strike?"
Tillman—"There's a lot of devilment among those judges up there, too. They infamously usurped power when they for-bid men to quit work."

General Butler only spoke five minutes on account of a terrific rain. He pleaded for peace and harmony, declaring that Tillman did not want unity and that he Tomorrow's meeting at Aiken, John Gray Evans's home, is expected to be very lively with some interesting developments.

Lord Rosebery opposed the bill on the ground that such proposals ought not to be made to parliament except upon the initiative of the government. It was not through neglect on the part of the present minister, he declared, that the allen question had not been touched. When Lord Salisbury was in power the case against alien immigrants was infinitely stronger than it is now, as immigration was much greater; yet the conservative minister then opposed special legislation on the ground that allens were few and that the right of asylum in Eng-

Lord Sallsbury expressed regret at the Lord Salisbury expressed regret at the government's refusal to support the bill, which was necessary legislation in the direction of protecting the workingmen against the competition of low-priced labor and also a preventive of England's becoming a permanent asylum for anarchistic refugees. NOBLE AND IGNOBLE.

Michelson, the Florida Forger, Is of High Birth but Low Morals.

HIS FATHER IS IN THE CZAR'S SERVICE.

By Engaging Manners He Quickly Made Desirable Friends.

IN THE PENITENTIARY ONCE BEFORE

Forgery Is a Weakness of His-He Has Two Wives, One in South Carolina, the Other in Florida.

Charleston, S. C., July 17 .- (Special.)-The arrest of A. M. Michelson in Madison, Fla., on the charge of forgery on Saturday last. brings out a romantic story concerning the young fellow. Several years ago the good ship Richard III arrived in Charleston harbor, from St. Petersburg, to take a cargo of cotton. The Richard III was one of the largest full-rigged ships that used to come to this port. On this particular trip she had on board a Russian of high birth and possessing manners, but without a dollar or friend in the world-cast off. desolate and alone.

Colonel William L. Trenholm, afterwards comptroller of the currency under Mr. Cleveland's first administration, was then Russian consular agent at this port, and the captain, being exercised in his mind about this young man, went to him and told him that this boy of about eighteen years of age was on board of his ship, that he was the son of a nobleman high in the service of the czar, who, on the eve of his departure had brought him aboard of his ship, giving him just bare passage money, and begged him to take him to America and then turn him adrift. The captain said that he became interested in and afterwards touched the forlorn plight of the young nobleman, who was a brilliant talker and of most charming manners, and determined to see what he could do for him, and so had brought him to Colonel Trenholm and begged that he would do what he could for him.

Made a Good Impression. Colonel Trenholm was very much pleased with the young man, who was singularly prepossessing, as said above, and called himself Michelson, and said that the reason for his being sent off by his father was that his father had slapped his sister's face and that he had struck him for so doing. Colonel Trenholm introduced him to his friend, Julian Mitchell, who, upon examination, found that he could read Greek and Latin with ease and could speak several nodern languages with fluency. At figures, too, he was a veritable prodigy. One could take a pencil and write on a piece of paper, calling it out to him as it was written, such a sum as this: 7,972, multiplied by 6,368, and before the man with paper and pencil would have the sum finished Michael. pencil would have the sum finished. Michelpencil would have the sum finished, Michelson would have calculated it mentally. Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Smith, his partner, were so pleased with the young man that they took him into their law office as a clerk. He there remained some time, giving absolute satisfaction and winning his way into the graces of all with whom he carried in contact.

Convict or Hypocrite. Whether he really experienced a temporary change of heart, or whether he was merely adding sacrilegious hypocrisy to his other crimes of ingratitude and dis-honesty is not known. At all events he became a Campbellite minister and achiev-ed considerable popularity in the extreme upper portion of the state in his ministerial capacity. After a while Michelson was married to a very excellent young country girl, with whom he seemed to live happily for some time, but after about a year's time he suddenly disappeared and was not heard of from that day until about four years ago, when a detter was received in his other crimes of ingratitude and disyears ago, when a detter was received in Charleston, from a Charleston lady in Floryears ago, when a cletter was received in Charleston, from a Charleston lady in Florida, who had known of Michelson when in Charleston. She said that he was then married to a pretty and charming young woman of excellent parentage, asking if he ought not to be exposed. The gentleman to whom the letter was addressed thought, that as the mischief was done and the girl already married to him, as he seemed, to be leading a quiet and respectable life, and, as he hoped, that having sown so much wild oats, that he might have gotten through and really turned over a new leaf, it would be wise to do nothing in the matter at all. Accordingly, nothing was done and Michelson dropped out of the minds of the people here entirely until the news came of his arrest in Florida.

HOGS, HOMINY AND COTTON. Cheering Crop News from the Black

Cheering Crop News from the Black Belt's Metropolis.

Felma, Ala., July 17.—(Special.)—The crop outlook in this section of Alabama is very geod. Until ten days ago rain had not fallen in several weeks, and the drought was beginning to show its evil effects. Corn began to twist badly and in some places had begun to fire, but the general rains came at last and the fatal shadow of a had corn crop disappeared with them. The farmers are now confident of enough corn to furnish bread for themselves and feed for their mules.

Cotton is small, but well fruited. It does not seem to have been ruined by the drought, and with good seasons from now on the yield will be larger than last year, but not excessively so. Farmers have not used much fertilizer and those who did not seem to have about as good a prospect and as pretty cotton as those who did not seem to have about as good a prospect and as pretty cotton as those who did The weed is very green, looks healthy and is well blossomed. Potatoes have done to'erably well, and the vegetable has entered largely into the crop this season.

Hogs are doing well, and but little meat will be sent here from the west. More hogs are now rooting Dallas county soil than at any time since the war. Farmers in middle Alabama are working on a new scale and determized not to continue in the same old rut. The farmers in middle Alabama owe less and are better contented than for years. They are thoroughly the budy with the idea of living at home and an home-raised products.

by trust himself to speak so soon after the outrages perpetrated last night at Pratt Mines; that he was a law and order man, and that he would hold himself within temperate limitations.

Mr. Rhodes urged that the citizens as-sembled pledge their lives and property to the enforcement of the laws, and to that end enroll themselves so as to be called to act as a posse-comitatus: that they declare the right of every man to labor unmolested and peacefully; that they invoke an out-spoken denunciation by all good citizens of anarchistic and seditious publications and speeches; that the city authorities be requested to increase the police force, not only to secure protection, but a sense of safety to the women and children of Birmingham; and a committee of safety, con-sisting of fifteen, twenty or twenty-five discreet and courageous citizens, be ap ointed to consider the situation and properly look after it.

Colonel Hewitt was called for. He said: "The law must be maintained at all hazards. It is the duty of every citizen. If the citizens and home militla cannot maintain the law, we should have federal troops to help us. (Cheers.)

"I am no enemy to labor. I believe in their organizations. If they wish to organize it is all right. If they wish to work or quit work it is all right, but they have no right to prevent others from working, be they white or negroes. Those who shoot down negroes for working in the mines are

Rails on the Union Pacific. Salt Lake, Utah, July 17.-Three strikers were caught this morning just before day light in the act of removing rails on the Union Pacific railroad track, two miles out of Ogden. The Overland Flyer was due a few minutes later, and a terrible catastrophe could not have been averted had not the dasfardly act been detected. TO RESUME SILVER COINAGE. A Limited Amount of Standard Dollars to Be Made. Washington, July 17.—Secretary Carlisle, it is understood, will give direction, within a few days to resume, to a limited extent, the coinage of standard silver dollars at the mints of the United States. Since the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase law, last November, silver coinage has been virtually suspended, only about 500 silver dollars having been struck off bearing the date of 1894. This coinage of silver for the remainder of this year will not probably exceed $2,000,000. Its coinage will not affect the amount of money in circulation, as for every dollar of silver coined a $1 silver certificate will be retired. The coinage, however, will increase the silver seigniorage now in the treasury but still uncoined. This now amounts to about $55,000,000.

ON CRUTCHES 2 WEEKS

Limb Raw as Beef and Red as Beet, Pain, Burning, and Itching Terrible. Not 5 Hours Sleep in 3 Days. Makes One Application of Cuticura and in 5 Minutes is Asleep. A Remarkable Case.

About two years ago I was confined to my room with a breaking out on my leg which my physician pronounced Eczema. About three weeks ago the same disease broke out again on the same leg, and my physician has been attending me regularly, calling from once to twice daily, the sores all the time getting worse. A friend called to see me, and brought about one half teaspoonful of Cuticura, advising me to try it, telling of himself, brothers and mother having been cured by it. I would not try it at first, although I had been on crutches for over two weeks, and at one time I counted between twenty-five and thirty suppurating sores, and had not slept more than five hours in three nights. Monday morning about four o'clock the pain, purning and itching became so severe that I determined to try Cuticura, and thinking that if it did no good, it could not make my leg much worse, for it was as raw as a piece of beef and as red as a beet, so I applied the Cuticura, and in five minutes after I laid down I was asleep. Next day I sent and got a box of Cuticura, and III pledge my honest word I would not take $100 to-day for it, if I could not get another. I commenced using Cuticura Monday morning about four o'ciock, and to-day (Tuesday) my leg is nearly well, notwithstanding I had not walked a step without my crutches in two weeks. My gratitude to the man who first compounded Cuticura is protound. May God bless him. d. May God bless him.

The Alstons belong to one of the noblest and most distinguished families of South Carolina, and number among their illustrious ancestors several governors and many distinguished statesmen.

The Halifax Alstons were known for their patriotism and fighting qualities.

The first fire occurred Saturday morning, July 7th, at about 5 o'clock. The city marshal, R. W. Moon, was on duty that night and on his rounds in the early hours of morning, had passed Alston's store, on the north side of the square, and had made his way around to the corner where the First National bank is located. Yacht Club's course of twelve turns for the rear commodore's cup, valued at $250 and a cash prize of $125. Some of the luster of her victory was lost by the failure of the Britannia to finish. But nearly three-quarters of the course had been sailed over when the Britainia carried away the jaws of her gaff and limped back home. The lead of the yankee yacht was then about six minutes, and, as the breeze held steadily all day, she doubtless would have increased her advantage several minutes in the last three legs. There was a strong westerly wind with a squally shower and then the wind was too brisk for club topsalls and wind was too brisk for club topsalls and both yachts carried ordinary canvas aloft. The gun sounded at 11 o'clock and simultaneously the racers reached the starting line together. The Vigilant hauled on the starboard tack, the Britannia to windward. They crossed simultaneously at 11:00:12 o'clock. The Vigilant rounded the mark boat one minute and fifteen seconds ahead of her rival and she constantly increased her lead. The quickness of the Britannia is tays enabled her to pick up a few seconds on each turn, but that did her no good and would not have done so had she salled the whole course.

that on the night of the fire Alston was at his store until about 11 o'clock.

Tom White testified that after he closed up the ice cream saloon, between 11 and 12 o'clock of that night, he saw Alston going through the park toward the store. He also testified that Alston's usual closing time was 6:30 o'clock. As a rule Alston got to the store in the morning at 7 o'clock and did not return home for breakfast.

As to the second fire the state introduced testimony to show that Alston was in the store between 12 and 1 o'clock on the afternoon when the fire occurred. The fire was discovered at 6:20 o'clock in the afternoon. Alston was in town just before the fire and was seen by several witnesses walking toward the fire from the Western and Atlantic depot at 5:20 o'clock, and one witness swore that about this time he saw Alston coming out of the store. Testimony was also introduced to show that several gallons of oil out of an oil tank had disappeared since the first fire.

Alston denied fattly having anything to do with the fires. At the conclusion of the case. Alston was bound over for the action of the grand jury and was sent back to jail.

The favorites carried off the honors in every race today with the exception of the second. In this race, Jersey Belle, was backed down to even money because a quilet tip had been given out that she was a "sure thing," but before the horses had entered the fog bank it was easily seen that the favorite was not in it. His Grace, a 7 to 1 shot won, defeating Half Mine by two lengths. Don Alonzo and Candelebra ran a dead heat in the fourth race, according to the decision of the judges, but many claim that the decision was wrong, maintaining that the "Don" won by a short head. ment will hold a grand reunion at Lithonia today.

A most interesting programme has been arranged for the occasion, and the indications are that the reunion will be very largely attended.

The Georgia railroad has made a reduced rate to Lithonia today, and a large number of old soldiers and their friends will go down from Atlants. Those who go should procure certificates in order to get the benefit of the reduced rate.

The exercises of the day will begin immediately upon the arrival in Lithonia of the Atlanta train. The regiment will form and march to the stand.

They will be called to order by the venerable president of the association, Hon. John W. McCurdy, after which prayer will be offered by Rev. J. H. Weaver.

The veterans will then be welcomed to Lithonia by Mayor Phillips. The address of welcome will be responded to on the part of the association by General Clement A. Evans. The annual address will then be delivered by the president of the association, Judge H. C. Jones.

FINE POINTS ON GAMBLING ARGUED.

It Is Suggested That the Legislators Who Made the Laws Knew all About Horse Racing and Gambling.

Augusta, Ga., July 17.—(Special.)—The trial of Laffan and Cavanaugh, proprietors of the turf exchange, for running a gaming house was begun in the city court today. The case is being prosecuted by the Ministers' Union. Rev. Wallace Tharpe and Dr. Burrows instituted the proceedings. Boykin Wright opened the case for the de-fense. He filed a demurrer and claimed that the turf exchange was simply the agency for the transmission of bets to New York; that horse racing was not to New York; that horse racing was not gambling according to the Georgia law, gambling must contain some element of chance, and that in horse racing it was not chance, but that in horse racing it was not chance, out the best horse that wins. Mr. Wright con-tended that the legislators who drew up the laws on gaming knew all about horse racing, but did not consider it gambling, consequently did not mention it in connection with other games of chance. If horse racing was not gambling, how could a wager on the result be considered gambling?

Solottor Cones. who represented the prosecution, claimed that horse racing was civilly held to be gambling. His purpose was to show that in the poolroom a system was offered by which money could be hazarded and that this was in violation of law. The only way to get bets yesterday with the Candler men was to offer wondrous odds or to bet on the figures that the Livingston majority will likely reach today. Various bets on this latter line were recorded. Some Livingston men bet that the majority of their favorite candidate would reach 1,000; others went as high as 1,200, and some went so far as to bet that the majority would go over 2,000.

All day yesterday, despite the heat of the day and the sultriness of the atmosphere,

Colonel Candler wore a heavy blue over-coat and kept it carefully turned up at the collar and closely buttoned around him. This caused considerable comment and ble candidates said they would walk with him up the street and the buzzing continued. They pounded him with arguments, one on the right and the other to the left.

Mr. Currier walked faster and faster. This caused the candidates to buzz louder and louder. Soon they had walked half a mile and Mr. Currier was at the gate of the Entitudinate for Livingston. If there is any one man who has displayed more good humor in this campaign than another it is John Ryan. He has been the hardest of them all to ruffle up the wrong way and has had a generous handshake for all the boys. The fact is, there is not a more generous hearted fellow in the wide, wide world than is John Ryan, and his cordial manner and incomparable politeness make him just the sort of man to see the sunny side of politics. He is an ardent Livingston man.

Livingston Was Against Him.

Livingston Was Against Him.

A prominent gentleman of this city, who holds a high office in the service of the United States government, said yesterday in speaking of the congressional race: "I shall vote for Colonel Livingston for constress, although he fought strenuously to prevent me from getting the office I now hold. He was pledged to support another candidate for this office and therefore did all he possibly could to defeat me. Ordinarily I should not vote for him for anything, but I think that his recent hard work for our great exposition should win for him the support of every citizen of Atlanta, At any rate I shall vote for him and I believe that the people of Atlanta will show their gratitude for his efforts in their behalf by rolling up a handsome majority for Colonel Livingston." Livingston Was Against Him.

A Batch of Interviews. "I have been hunting all day," said Mr.
John Hall, the fifth ward guardian of politics, "for some of that Candler money they have been talking about for days, but it seems that every time I go to a place where the money is said to be waiting I

This lone supporter of the De-kalb statesman was standing up for his politics in Fulton county and Atlanta. I have been here all my life and have been choice.

'I haven't voted since I've been in Atlanta' said Cashier Billie Carr, "but I registered this time to vote for Livingston."

"That's my fix," rejoined Mr. James Purtell, who was in the crowd; "I never vote, but I wanted to vote for Livingston and through many campaigns, but I never saw one in which there was such unanimity of one in which there was such unanimity of feeling, if not of action, as there is for Livingston."

"I can't say," said Mr. Tom Royles, "that I am going to vote for Livingston. In fact I have no idea that I will, noiwithstanding the fact he and I were once friends. I was originally a Candler man in this campaign and placed some money that way. But just now I would like to find some one who would take the bets I have made off my hands. If I could hedge I would be satisfied. But so far I have been unable to do so."

"I don't know when I have watched an election," said Mr. Steve Postell, "as closely as I have watched this one, and I want to say that I have never seen an election as certain as the election of Livingston appears to be in Fulton county. If Atlanta and Fulton county were to settle this matter Candler wouldn't be in it."

"Oh. Livingston has it all his own way," said Mr. Bob Riley. "He is a dead sure winner and it is no use to think any other way about it. He is head and shoulders in the lead and when the wire is reached Candler will be distanced."

"It makes me laugh," said Captain W. H. Brotherton, the sage and political pioneer of the first ward, "when I hear these people talking about Candler having a chance. Why it's a dead certain thing that Livingston will pull the county his own way by a great big vote. That vote, too, will be given by the best men of the county, and it will be a vote of which any man should be proud. I make the prediction that Livingston would be a seried as that of any man who is running, with one exception, if it is not greater."

"For the first time in my life," remarked Dr. Danforth, "I have become interested in politics. Years ago I knew Colonel Livingston and was surprised when I saw the race he was making before the pecopic. Then politics did not figure in my life. Now I have been thinking over this matter and have given it lots of study and I am prepared to say that I will give any man in Atlanta the best hat that can be found in the city if Livingston does not carry thi

Now I have given it lots of study and I am prepared to say that I will give any man in Atlanta the best hat that can be found in the city if Livingston does not carry this county in a gallop. Like myself, a dozen men I know, and know well, have gone and registered just to vote for Livingston. None of us, however, would have ever registered, or in all probability thought of the race but for the fact that Colonel Livingston has been so badly abused. See me walk down there tomorrow and cast the first vote I have cast in years, and that vote will be for Livingston. And I know a half-dozen more maiden votes that are going that same way. I'd like to get a chance to make my expenses at some watering place for about two weeks that he won't beat Candler 1,000 votes."

"I am one of the few men in the city who will vote for Livingston because The Journal has been abusing him," said Mr. E. McFadden yesterday. "I think Livingston has done lots of good work for the district and that he should be returned. Why, that fellow Candler ain't in the fight with him."

"I feel sad." said Mr. Gus Long, "when I begin to look at the many friends I have had who have gone wrong on this election. But still I would take a chance to witheir money if they would put it up on the man they say is going to beat Livingston. I have money and I have friends who have more who are anxious to try the result. They all want to bet on Livingston, but it seems that after all of their talk they haven't the nerve. The truth is, I am almost tempted to say that I can find a man who will give two to one on Livingston.

"It took the night and went to hear Liv-

"I took the night off," said Mr. Ernest Naylor, "last night and went to hear Livingston and Candler. I was then a Candler man and expected to hear something good. I just thought that he would wipe up the earth with Livingston, but when I got there and heard what I did I came away to vote for Livingston. Why Livingston simply made a monkey out of that man, and he can do it every day in the year. Livingston can do more in congress in a minute than Candler can do in a year. I am not the only man either that was changed by listening to those speeches. Livingston simply knocked him out and that is all there is in it. See him get the votes tomorrow. If he don't come around all right I'll give you one of those campaign hats they are talking so much about."

HOW CANDLER VOTED.

The Record Shows That He Acted Against His Party Associates.

Against His Party Associates.

In his speeches during the past week Colonel Milton A. Candler has repeatedly charged that because Colonel Livingston took an active part in the alliance movement, prior to its dwindling away into a mere political party, that a taint attaches to his democracy, which even two endorsements from the democracy of the fifth district does not remove.

ments from the democracy of the fifth district does not remove.

In other words "the company Livingston has kept" does not satisfy Colonel Candler. To those who recollect Colonel Candler's career in the forty-fourth and forty-fifth engresses, this question of judging a man by his company is decidedly refreshment.

man by his company is decidedly refreshing.

It seems that in the forty-fourth congress there was a democratic rump of less than twenty members whose votes gould always be relied on in an emergency when the goldbug interest was at stake. They were not quite as pronounced as they now are, but they were alarmingly advanced for the age in which they lived. One of the most constant members of this little cabal was Milton A. Candler, of Georgia. It was such a common thing for his name to appear on the roll, when financial votes were called, upon the side opposed by the democratic majority, that it ceased to excite comment. Occasionally, because of some defect in a bill, which needed perfecting, one or two other Georgia members would vote with him, but the rule was—Candler on one side and the balance of the Georgia delegation on the other.

The effort of Colonel Candler at the Convers meeting to make it appear that the late Benjamin H. Hill frequently voted with him, was so crushingly met by Colonel Livingston, that he will hardly care to repeat it. The main trend of Mr. Hill's votes, as also those of the other Georgia congressmen, was to condemn the course of Colonel Candler. Mr. Blount, who was at the time in congress, voted almost uniformly against Colonel Candler. So of Dr. Felton, Hon. W. E. Smith, General Phil Cook, Hon. Henry R. Harris and the other Georgia members.

A resume of the financial votes in the forty-fourth and the forty-fifth congresses will best illustrate the true position of Colonel Candler. The two main questions were the restoration of silver to its place in the cotnage, and the easing of the people from the contracting influences of the resumption act. In every vote, almost, Colonel Candler was as certain to be found with the anti-silver people and the contractionists as the Naw England demo-It seems that in the forty-fourth congress

"That the secretary of the treasury under such limits and regulations as will hest secure a just and fair distribution of the same through the country, may issue the silver coin now in the treasury to an amount mot exceeding $10,000,000 in exchange for an equal amount of legal tender notes, and the notes so received in exchange shall be kept as a special fund, separate and apart from all other money in the treasury, and be reissued only when the retirement and destruction of a like sum of fractional currency received at the treasury in payment of dues to the United States; and said fractional currency, when States; and said fractional currency, when so substituted, shall be destroyed and held as a part of the sinking fund, as provided in the act approved April 17, 1876."
On ordering the main question, Candler voted in the affirmative, with one ther

Georgia member, while among the nays are to be found the names of Benjamin H. Hill, James H. Blount and the other Georgia members, as well as those of such democrats as Mills and Springer.

On June 28th, another financial vote was taken, when Mr. Candler's vote again appears with these contractionists and republicans, while in opposition to him are recorded Blount, Hartridge and the balance of the Georgia delegation.

of the Georgia delegation.

Subsequently, on the same day, Mr. Randall moved that the treasury should coin $20,000,000 in silver dollars. This was further amended by Mr. Landers that the coins so issued should be of the same weight and fineness as the silver dollar of 1881

For Landers's amendment there voted Bland, Benjamin H. Hill and the Georgia democrats, with the exception of Candler, who voted nay.

For Randall's measure, thus amended, there voted Bland, Blount, Felton and the bulk of the democratic majority. Standir among the nays with the republicans was milton A. Candler.

Finally, when in the republican senate, and in conference, the bill had been so pared down as to be satisfactory to the contractionists, Mr. Candler gave it his support, but in opposition to him are to be found the names of Bland, Holman, Springer, Stevenson and other democratic leaders.

On May 15, 1876, Mr. Payne sought to have acted upon a joint resolution for the issuing of $10,000,000 of the silver coin in the treasury in exchange for an equal amount of legal tender notes which were to be retired.

Mr. Candler voted with the majority to refuse to suspend the rules, while among the nays were Bland, Blount, Phil Cook, Henry R. Harris, Holman, W. E. Smith, Springer, Tucker and others.

In January, 1876, Mr. Holman, backed by the great body of democratic congressmen, made an effort to have the resumption act repealed, in order to avert the terrible contraction which its enforcement was subcontraction which its enforcement was subjecting the country to. He was joined in this by Bland, Blount, Cook, Felton, Hartridge, Benjamin H. Hill, W. E. Smith, Springer, Stevenson, Tucker, and democrats of like stamp. The majority which refused to suspend the rules was led by Milton A. Candler, Cannon, Conger, G. F. Hoar, T. C. Platt etc. C. Platt, etc.

On March 27, 1876, Mr. Payne introduced the democratic caucus bill to provide for the gradual resumption of specie payments. The vote for the suspension of the rules to allow consideration of the bill resulted in its defeat, the yeas showing the names of Blount, Bland, Phil Cook, Felton, H. R. Harris, Hartridge and others, Mr. Candler absented himself, and thus helped the negative side.

On May 1st, Mr. Holman moved to suspend the rules to enable him to introduce a bill amendatory of the resumption act. Those standing by Mr. Holman were Ben-jamin H. Hill, Blount, Cook, Felton, W. E.

Smith and others. Among the nays, sandwiched between the names of Burleigh and Chittenden, was that of Milton A. Candler

June 6, 1876, Mr. Randall, from the com mittee on rules, reported a rule to facilitate reports from the democratic committee on coinage. This was agreed to through the assistance of Benjam'n H. others. Of course, Mr. Candler's name is recorded with the republican opposition, such as Hoar, Tom Platt, and so on.

Mr. Kelley, on June 24th, asked a suspension of the rules to provide for the renewed coinage of silver dollars, to cure the fraud of 1873. On the vote on that question, for once, Mr. Candler did act squarely with his party associates.

December 13, 1876, Mr. Candler is found again voting against his Georgia colleagues on a financial issue. November 1, 1876, Candler votes against the Georgia democrats.

In roll call on June 14th, Candler's name is recorded with the republican majority made possible by a dozen democratic votes. made possible by a dozen democratic votes. His colleagues against him.

April 22, 1878, a vote on the reissue contractional notes resulted in a defeat by a vote of 121 to 124. The Georgians, except Mr. Candler, were for it. The name of Candler stands out boldly against his own delargation.

delegation. The Vermont Vote.

Colonel Candler is entitled to much of the responsibility for the seating of Mr. Hayes as president. The vote as declared, after the steaking of the votes of Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina, stood: Tilden, 184; Hayes, 185.

184; Hayes, 185.

It required a vote of either house to send any disputed return to the electoral It required a vote of either house to send any disputed return to the electoral commission. An effort was made to send the vote of Vermont to the commission, because it was a notorious fact that one of the electors. Henry N. Sollace, was ineligible, being a postmaster. When the vote was called, Milton A. Candler voted against it, and per contra, in favor of counting a fraudulent vote. If that return has been sent to the commission, that body could not have escaped the responsibility of throwing out the vote of Sollace.

That would have made it: Tilden, 184; Hayes, 184—no election.

This would have thrown the election into the democratic house, where Mr. Tilden would have been given the seat.

The excuse put up by Colonel Candler is that Mr. Hewitt, in charge of Mr. Tilden's interests, did not desire it. He seemingly forgot that the fifth district of Georgia did not send him to congress to be governed by the fears of a timid old man who wished to avert a loss on securities might bring about.

This is the record, which the people of Fulton may read with profit.

William Jones Who Killed Henry Fields | The Rates from the East to Be Restored Is Still at Large.

They Were Partners in Business and in Closing Their Affairs Quarreled Over a Small Account.

Macon, Ga., July 17 .- (Special.)-Mr. Henry Fields, who was killed yesterday by Bill Jones, an ex-policeman, was buried today. The funeral was largely attended. Jones has not been arrested. Sheriff Westcott and his deputies are looking for him and his description has been sent over tne country.

Jones and Fields had been partners in business near the Georgia mills, and recently dissolved partnership. About 8:80 o'clock yesterday morning they were in the store winding up their affairs, when a dispute arose over an account of $1.50. Fields was not armed. Presently Jones drew a pistol and Fields was overheard to say: "Don't come that on me Bill." Then a shot was fired, presumably by Jones, as no one else was in the store except Jones and Fields. The ball entered Fields's right breast, passed through the body, and came out under the right shoulder blade. Fields started the right shoulder blade. Fields started out of the store and Jones fired a second shot. This also took effect. The ball entered the back under the left shoulder blade, passed directly through the heart and came out of the breast. This was the fatal shot. Immediately on being struck the second time, Fields, who had got into the back yard, retraced his steps and re-entered the store, with his thumbs stuck under his suspenders, near the arm pits. His legs commenced to totter. Some one asked him if he must send for the doctor. Fields replied, "Yes," and some one else asked if he didn't wish a hack to go home, and he answered, "Yes." Then in another moment Fields fell over on the floor dead. Both men were in their shirt sleeves at the time of the difficulty. As soon as Jones saw that he had killed Fields, he left the store without his coat and escaped to the swamp. It is said that he was seen later going down the East Tennessee road. The coroner's jury held an inquest and rendered a ver-dict of murder. Fields's father, who lives

Kept His Daughter a Prisoner.

A remarkable case was brought to the attention of the officers this morning. According to statements a negro girl, named Jane Jackson, aged eighteen years, who is demented, has been kept locked up by her father, Andrew Jackson, in a room for over two years, in a populated part of the city. The windows and doors of the room have been kept barred and the very cracks have been stopped up. She has been fed, but no other attention has been pald her. Finally neighbors reported the case to officers, not so much as an act of humanity, but more so much as an act of humanity, but more as a nuisance. Today the room was broken into and the girl was found in a nude condition, and totally crazy. She was taken to jail, where she will be tried on a writ of lunacy and sent to the asylum. Her father states that his daughter went crazy about two years ago, and that he loved her so well that he didn't wish her sent to the asylum and thus taken from him. lum and thus taken from him.

MACON'S TRAGEDY. RATTLE OF THE RAIL.

THE FUNERAL OF THE DEAD MAN, A CHANGE TO BE MADE FROM BOSTON,

Rumors About General Manager Green, on the Southern Railway, Resigning His Position-Other Railway News

The old rates from the east will be restored on August 1st. The order has gone out and the schedule have been made. The rates from New York to Atlanta will be the same as they were before the recent warfare was precipitated by the Clyde lines.

There has been a change made in the restoration of rates from Boston to south ern points. To Atlanta the rate on first class freights per hundred has been raised from 1.14 to 1.20. The schedule thus is made to run as follows from Boston: First class, 1.20; second class 1.04; third class 91; fourth class, 78; fifth class, 64; sixth class, 52. A change has been made in the rates from Baltimore, too, and the schedule from that point to Atlanta after August 1st will run as follows: First class, 1.07; second class, 92; third class, 81; fourth class, 68; fifth class, 56; sixth class, 46.

These rates will all take effect the first day of August and the railroad agents of this city and other southern points are preparing for the change.

The history of the recent rate disturbance in the south is well known to the railroad men and the shippers and jobbers of the commercial world. The Clyde line started the ball rolling by declaring a cut rate effective. This rate was made by combining a cheap water rate with the regular land rate at first and made the first-class rate per hundred to Atlanta from New York 96 cents.

As soon as this was fairly in operation Commissioner Stahlman, of the Southern Rallway and Steamship Association, issued an order declaring a rate of 40 cents per hundred on all first-class freights per hundred from New York to Atlanta.

The other classes were reduced accordingly and the rates have been effective for the past two months.

The cheap rates caused a general revival of business on the part of the merchants in all of the chief jobbing centers of the south while they lasted.

The Rumor Is Not Believed.

Dispatches from Columbia tell of a rumor to the effect that General Manager H. Green, of the old Richmond and Dan-ville and now of the Southern Railway Company, has resigned and that Third Vice President Baldwin has succeeded him as general manager of the Southern.

The rumor is not believed here in Atlanta. Railroad men who are in a position to know give the story the laugh.

know give the story the laugh.

General Manager Green certainly has the forces of the Southern railway in better trim than those of any other railroad in this section of the country. He is one of the ablest railroad men in the country and his ability is such as makes absurd any rumor to the effect that anything should rumor to the effect that anything should have happened to cause him to resign a position he held so efficiently for so long time.

THE QUESTION OF RATES.

The Southern Railway and Steamship Association Discusses Them. New York, July 17 .- The Southern Railway and Steamship Association held the hird session of its annual meeting at the Oriental hotel, Manhattan Beach, today. Since the last session rates to common points in the association's territory have been heavily cut, the average reduction be-ing fully 60 per cent less than the schedule of last year. This has been of advantage to ing fully 60 per cent less than the schedule of last year. This has been of advantage to shippers who have been able to contract for shipments to competitive points during Juna and July at the cut rate. The approach of August 1st, when such contracts between roads and shippers expire, makes this session of importance as deciding whether rates are to be restored. If they are not the association may be disrupted. Thirty-five roads and steamship lines were represented at today's session by upwards of 125 prominent officials.

President C. H. Phinizy, of the Atlanta and West Point road, was elected chairman of the meeting and W. L. McGill, the association's secretary, kept the record. Routine business was soon disposed of and preliminary discussion of the main question was then participated in by several members.

The association's commissioner. The was then participated in by several members.

The association's commissioner, E. B. Stahlman, of Atlanta, introduced a proposed schedule of rates for the coming year. A partial reading at once developed numerous objections, and the chairman referred the matter to the executive committee for revision. The committee will, it is expected, be able to report it at the session tomorrow.

session tomorrow.

During the evening the members were busy in committees, and quiet conferences on the subject, and the general opinion seemed to be in favor of a restoration of rates August-1st to about the figures of a year ago.

If this action is not finally accomplished at the present meeting, which may last two or three days it is said there may be a tacit consent of the stronger lines to a restoration, for a trial of thirty days, from the first proximo, even without formal action by the association.

NO TRUTH IN IT. Officials of the Southern Flatly Con tradict the Rumor.

Washington, July 17.—(Special.)—The rumor that General Manager Green, of the Southern Railway Company, has resigned is totally unfounded: While I have not been able to see Captain Green, several high officials of the road who had heard of the rumor and talked with him about it say he has no idea of resigning. Today Will Settle It.

The democrats of Fulton county express today their choice for congress, the two candidates being Hon, L. F. Livingston, our present representative, and Hon. Milton A. Candler.

The Atlanta Journal, which has made a most vindictive, unjust and cruel campaign against Colonel Livingston, asks, which of the two is the truest democrat? We trust that we violate no confidence in saying that as between Colonel Livingston and Colonel Candler, judging strictly by the record of each as a member of congress, that Colonel Livingston is infinitely the truer democrat, for never has he cast a vote that was not in accord with the majority of his democratic colleagues. The same cannot be said of Colonel Candler.

"Which," asks The Journal, "has been more faithful in the service of the people?"

Colonel Livingston, of course! Georgia never had a congressman who was more diligent in his attention to his duty, or more devoted in his service to the people.

"Which," asks The Journal, "has been truer to his obligations and his professions?"

Why, Colonel Livingston, certainly! He said when he went to congress that he would fight for the democratic platform, and he has done it. He has invariably voted against trust legislation, against high tariff in every form, and never lost an opportunity to cast his vote in favor of the coinage of "both gold and silver" as demanded by the platform. He has worked like a beaver for Atlanta.

Of Colonel Candler The Journal says: "He has never failed to stand squarely cratic party, and has never consorted with its enemies and aided in their assaults upon it." All of which is emphatically not true. In the most crucial period of the party's existence, when the wreckers and the money sharks were tightening their grip on the currency of the country and contracting it to a volume which threatened panic and disaster to the commerce of the nation, and more especially to the unsettled business of the south, Colonel Candler joined hands with the republicans of the house in every currency effort that was antagonized by the democrats. Who was consorting with the enemies of the democratic party then? Where was Colonel Candler when with a mere handful of democrats he planked his armor on the republican table and left the majority of his party to contend as best it could for the demands and the relief of the people.

All this is a matter of history and Colonel Candler's record is there to speak for itself. This is an open book and that record has been passed upon once by the people of Fulton county.

Monday night's joint debate brought but fully the issues on which the two candidates are before the people. It demonstrated the strength of Colonel Livingston with the people of Fulton county, and gave renewed assurance to the certainty of his triumph today.

Colonel Livingston proved every charge that he had made against Colonel Candler-proved that he had several times voted for the contraction of the currency, against such good democrats as Stephens, Ben Hill and Lamar -proved that he was silver's enemy all the time-proved that he had aided in seating Hayes by voting against submitting Vermont's electoral vote to the electoral commission which would have thrown it out on the ground of illegality and thus given the presidency to the democrats.

Then, the speaker quoted Colonel Candler's endorsement of him two years ago as a good democrat, a worthy democrat, a democrat to be trusted.

In all it was a great Livingston night. The people of Fulton county have had. abundant time to make up their minds. They should vote today for the man who they think best able to serve their interests. Such a man is Colonel Livingston. His defeat at this time wouldbe most deplorable. Fortunately, public sentiment has so crystallized in his favor as to leave no possible doubt as to the result of today's election.

defeat could be considered as nothing else than a most disastrous and unfortunate defeat for Atlanta at this time.

An Interesting Question. Colonel Livingston raised a very interesting point in his Monday night's speech at the opera house when, to the astonishment of the vast assemblage who had gone out to hear the joint debate, he drew two papers from his pockets-one, The Journal, caricaturing Colonel Livingston, and the other the populist Press, caricaturing President Cleveland and the democracy, and both published, as Colonel Livingston showed, from the press of The Atlanta Journal.

It was received with great effect by the house, and when Colonel Livingston showed that his bitter personal enemy, The Journal, was grinding out anti Livingston doctrine on one turn of its press and anti-democratic doctrine on another, he literally overwhelmed the opposition to him in the audience, and the Candler men stood aghast at his exposure.

Colonel Livingston showed that the paper which had charged him with preaching alliance doctrine was now grinding out every day the most intense populist doctrine to be found in Georgia, and that it had come actively to the help of the enemies of the democracy by publishing from its plant the most violent abuse and slander of the democratic party. "There they both are," said Colonel Livingston, "two little twins! printed side by side from the same press. You pay your money, you take your choice!" The effect was instantaneous, and the house was in a whirlwind almost before any one knew what was the matter.

Of course, this brings up a very ineresting question. It is true The Journal does this work and gets its pay for it, having a contract for a specified time. A contract for what? To lend its facilities, built up by the patronage of the people, for the use of the enemies of the democracy, and for the constant antagonism of democratic organization.

The same contract was offered The Constitution before it was given to The Journal. Of course, The Constitution's press facilities being more adequate than that of any other similar institution in Atlanta, it was natural that this offer should first be made to it. On The Constitution's declining to take the contract. The Journal promptly accepted it.

In this connection, of course, nobody blames that astute and distinguished populist leader. Hon. Tom Watson, or his able lieutenant, Colonel Charles Mc-Gregor, for being lucky enough to get a democratic newspaper to print their lively and most interesting organ, replete as it is from day to day with the choicest bits of anti-democratic doses. It was a splendid play, and if it is true, as reported, that they have The Journal tied up for several months by a contract, the effect will be manifested in the fall elections, for The Journal thus virtually nullifies its work for the democracy by this evidence of its willingness to contract its facilities to the use of the enemies of the democratic party.

It is certainly an interesting question that Colonel Livingston has raised.

Concerning the Income Tax. We regret to see The New York Sun continuing its fight against the income tax. In a reply to a recent editorial in The Constitution favoring the tax our contemporary says: Our contemporary is treading on ground miry with socialistic cant and the disasters that spring from it when it talks of wealthy men not bearing their fair share of the common weight of taxation.

When did the democratic party authorize its representatives to go forth and select for special taxation citizens of the United States whom they might decide to be "abundantly able to bear it?" The rule of democracy is equal rights for all and special privileges to none, and any deviation from it is contrary to the democratic party's history and promises, both. A defender of the income tax as no violation of democratic principle might are well fall it solices. cratic principle might as well call it politically admissible to single out owners of $4,000 incomes and upward for service as soldiers in the army.

The income tax is an odious intrusion of socialism into a community where the principle of equal privileges for all and special privileges for none has always been jealously guarded. It is a new and direct reversal of democratic policy as it has been taught, practiced and understood for a hundred years. It cannot be justified to any voter for the party successful in 1892 who chal-lenges it, and if established now it will be established in reckless violence to the democracy's guarantees of its own policies as against those of its defeated rivals, and, except as to those especially condemned, of America's known systems and institutions as against those unknown, revolutionary or rejected. Stop it before it is too late.

Thomas Jefferson was the father of American democracy. He favored a graded income tax as being the most equitable tax that could be devised. If we tax incomes of $4,000 and upward it is because we must draw the line somewhere, and it is better to draw it where it will make the rich bondholde pay his just share of taxation than it would be to exempt him, and tax his poor neighbor's cottage. The Sun's idea that if we have an income tax it is wrong to exempt persons with small incomes will not hold water. There is no justice in taxing a small income that has to be paid out for living expenses. The big incomes from non-productive wealth that are piled up into immense fortunes are the incomes that should be taxed. The poor man is taxed now on his visible property and on all that he consumes. The thing to do is to equalize taxation by making the rich bondholders pay their share of the public expenses. They get more protection and more benefit from the gov-should pay for it. The Sun's rant about socialism goes for nothing. The socialism that makes a man with an income of $100,000 a year pay a tax on it is far better than Let us hope that Atlanta will vote overwhelmingly for Colonel Livingston, to the cabin of the day laborer. Sun sees socialism in it, why, then, it is welcome to go ahead and make the most of it. We are not in sympathy with any democracy that builds up a privileged class at the expense of the people.

Advantages of Bimettallism. The different countries of Europe have different kinds of money as regards weight, fineness, depomination and value. Why should this country, then, delay bimetallism until Europe agrees to it? We might just as well ask for the formation of an international system, of government.

The English government did not consult us when it demonetized silver, and there is no good reason why we should consult her if we desire to remonetize the white metal. A recent writer says It ill becmes a country like the United States to depend upon the action of any other country to enable it to devise, and dopt any one or more systems of internaaction, more especially that of either a polit-ical or a monetary one. The pretense that our adoption of bimetallism would disarrange our commercial relations is, to say the least, a very singular one when we France carrying on its internal and ternal affairs under bimetallism, and, such, has become one of the most wealthy and independent nations in the world. and independent nations in the world.

If we were to adopt the gold and silver standard upon a ratio of 16 to 1 and enter arrangement with the into a monetary arrangement with the Central and South American countries, in cluding Mexico, we would not only create an overwhelming support of the double standard, but we would enrich ourselves as well as every South American nation that should join us in this monetary arrangement. We would soon build up a commercial business that would give an impe tus to the productive interest of every branch of trade carried on by each and every country in North and South America.

This writer goes on to show that last year our imports from the Spanish-American countries exceeded our exports by $145.721.000. Our exports are only about one-third of the value of our imports from those countries. Now, as this vast region south of us imports about $800,000,000 worth of products annually from Europe it will be seen that we are losing a magnificent trade which would naturally come to us if we re-establish bimetal-

The Cincinnati Enquirer rightly says that it was a great injustice to the people to demonetize silver and cause a wholesale shrinkage of values. It thus describes the situation: Destroying the use of silver as money out shackles upon the limbs of labor, which ave become more and more unendurable Labor and its products have by this act of demonetization been constantly shrinking in price. Workingmen are disposed to find fault with their employers, when they are not to blame for a cut in wages. The products of labor shrink in propertion. Warelouses are filled with furniture for which there is no sale unless at a price below the cost of production. The raw materials cost of production. The raw materials must be cheapened, wages of labor must be cut, the manufactured goods on hand mus reduced; the interest on bonds and fixed investments is doubled in its purchasing partaking of the feast which the demone tization of silver has prepared for them.

There are many honest men who would favor the restoration of silver if the silver dollar had a dollar's worth of silver in tt. They admit that silver is the workingn money, and they are led astray by the specious and delusive argument of Senator Snerman and other gold monometallists. Senator Sherman will not die happy unless he can live to see the workingman get as good a dollar as the bondholder receives. sincere, why not pay the bondholder in the workingman's dollar? That would place workingman's dollar? That would place both on an equal footing. The difficulty is that after the bondholder has received his gold dollar there is none left for the laborer. If congress would deprive gold of its money function as it has done with silver it would restore the parity between the rich and the poor man's dollar. If gold was demone tized and deprived of its money function its value as a commodity would depend upon its commodity use. Unless some other use could be found for it than is now known there would be enough gold instantly thrown upon the market to meet the demand for it in dentistry and in the arts for fifty years. It would not be worth enough to justify an effort to increase the quantity. Let the nations treat it as they are nov treating silver, and our ratio of 16 to 1 would not be maintained for a day, to the everlisting dishonor of gold. Discard the use of gold as money and remonetize silver, and the parity of the two metals would be destroyed, the same as now. The silver dollar, being worth only 60 cents in gold. would be worth by the same measure 130 or This is simply saying that the coinage value of both metals depends solely and purely upon the flat of governments It is also repeating the thought that when no longer coined their commodity value would depend upon their commodity use in which case silver would outrank gold pound for pound. Gold would be the debas-ed and dishonored metal. This is a very clear statement of the conditions governing the two metals. If England dared by her flat to degrade the coinage value of silver we should confidently try the virtue of our flat in restoring it, especially as we are backed by 70,000,000 people in this country, some 60,000,000 consumers in Spanish-America and about 800,000,000 in the silver-using orient. Under these circumstances it is easier for us to re-establish bimetallism than it was for England to establish monometallism.

Congress and the Tariff.

It looks as if there might be trouble ahead in the settlement of the tariff question by congress. The house has taken its stand on one proposition and the senate, in order o pass any tariff bill at all, was forced to the necessity of making a compromise measure, which, while yielding the all important principle of a tariff for révenue only, is still an undoubted improvement on the McKinley high tariff law. The Constitution does not hesitate to say, as between the two bills, that of the house is much preferable to that of the senate. At the same time the senate bill is such a vast improvement over the existing McKinley law that if the pending conference could do no better than accept the enforced demands of the senate, there would be much to be thankful for. The senate bill does away with the most flagrant injustice of the McKinley law, and takes a considerable step in the direction of tariff reform. If the country must accept it, it does so on the principle that half a loaf is better than no loaf at all. The main thing the country wants now is an end to the tariff discussion and a settlement as to what is to be the financial policy of the government. Any kind of bill is better than the indefinite suspense to which the business interests of the country have been subjected for so many months. Let the conference committee, therefore, got together on some agreement without further delay. Let it wind up its work by me best terms possible. Continued delay is not only aggravating but disastrons. and if the suspense is kept up much longer the party will receive a blow as the result of public indignation from which it will be hard for it to recover.

Let there be an end of the tariff business, even if that end must be the senate bill. The people are tired of wait-

Less Money, More Bayonets.

We are not surprised to find The At lanta Journal favoring a standing army with a larger number of soldiers than we now have under arms. This is what it now calls for.

The advocates of the gold standard are all rapidly coming to the conclusion that if will require bayonet rule in this country, if their oppressive policy is continued.

Less money, more bayonets! This is the position of the gold sharks and the politicians and newspapers on their side.

The people are opposed to large standing armies. We made this one of our grievances in the declaration of independence and we have been on that line ever since. The democratic party has always held that a large standing army would be a menace to the reserved rights of the states, and to the people. When we had numerous territories and a large number of Indians there was some necessity for a good sized army. But we have fewer Indians now, and nearly all of the former territories are now states with their own militia The proposed increase of the federal army can only excite suspicion and alarm. In 1868 congress reduced the army to 25,000, and it was sufficient during all the reconstruction troubles. Why increase it now?

The question is easily answered. The gold standard leaders fear that the contraction of the currency will cause further discontent and distress. They distrust the states, and have no faith in the people, and they would overawe the masses by scattering bayonets and Gatling guns all over the land.

The Journal is right from its point of view. If we are to have currency contraction, with all its evils in the shape of a general shrinkage of values low wages, blighted industries and stagnant commerce, the people are going to protest very vigorously and endeavor to right their wrongs at the ballot box. In order to maintain the gold standard against the will of the masses it will then become necessary to suppress free speech, control the elections by force, support a big standing army, and multiply our prisons and poorhouses.

Less money, more bayonets! The two go together. But it is a bad policy, and it will prove very expensive in the end. Before we resort to such dangerous expedients, why not go back to our old system-restore bimetallism and expand the currency? That would make our people so busy, prosperous and happy that the soldier would be a back number and his bayonet would be a holiday toy.

If we restore our American financial system there will be no need of the European mode of governing people by the bayonet. Give us more dollars and fewer bayonets!

An Example That Should Be Followed. In these days when differences are so common between corporations and their employes it is pleasant to note an exceptional case which gives the situation a brighter side. The Southern Express Company is one of the few corporations whose relations with its employes are always mutually satisfactory. During its long and useful career there has been only one attempt to strike, and that was caused by outside influences and amounted to nothing. The energy and loyalty of the company's men are stimulated by the knowledge that their work is appreciated and will be duly rewarded. The young man who enters the service and does his duty is reasonably certain that he will be well provided for. When his work wears him out or when he becomes old and infirm he is not sent adrift to make room for another. On the contrary, he is promoted from time to time, and in his old age his duties are made lighter and he is made to feel that the company is his friend to the last.

This noble policy has trained up an army of men who would die if necessary to serve the company. They try to rival one another in their fidelity and industry and pull together like a band of brothers. The same spirit pervades all classes of men from the highest officials down. Mr. H. B. Plant, the president; Mr. M. J. O'Brien, vice president and general manager, and Mr. T. W. Leary, the assistant general manager, all feel the same friendly interest in their employes. Sometimes Mr. Plant, when he visits a local office, will call for one of the oldest and humblest expressmen whom he has not seen for years, and personally compliment him upon his long and faithful work. "Make it easy for him, and don't dock him for lost time," is a frequent order of the president in regard to an old employe. This is not only an enlightened and a humane policy, but it is a winning policy. It secures better service and befter men, and strengthens the company. The example might be followed by many corporations with benefit to

It is possible that Mississippi will get

Chief Hazen, of the United States secret service, that all the unsigned warrants must be turned over to him, and the plates of the estes have also been de overnor declines to com ply with this demand. He will continue to issue the warrents, and he maintains that if the people of his state are willing to accept them as currency they have a perfect right to do it, and the interference of the federal government will amount to nothing.

If Mississippi wins the fight it is proba ble that when the next panic comes along we shall see many of the states issuing millions of dollars in treasury warrants from $1 upward. Such paper would make a very good currency."

The Same Issue.

In 1878 the democrats of this district rejected Colonel Milton A. Candler be cause he was for currency contraction and had voted for it three times in congress.

The democrats of Fulton will bear in mind the fact that the same issue presses us today. They were against currency contraction sixteen years ago, and the object lesson of two years of serious depression has not caused them to think that there is too much money in the country.

Our people demanded more money in 1878 and they are clamoring for it in 1894. How many of them are likely to vote for a currency contractionist who is for the gold standard, first, last and all the time?

In New York a building now under way at Broadway and Pine street will, when completed, measure 306 feet from curb to roof. This is twenty feet higher than oid Trinity's steeple. The work on the foundations of this skyscraper, as well as on some others whose excavations employ arge forces of men, shows that New York builders are paying more attention formerly to the utility of deep and stable underground quarters. On the foundations of this structure alone six months will be onsumed, according to estimates of coninteresting, as showing the strides mad in the building line. The first thing done was to sink rectangular steel caissons to fill the area required. Under these the men vorked, digging away the earth, little by little, the caissons all the while by their own weight and that of several continually pumped to the men through s chimney-shaped cylinder. These caissons are sunk from a level of eighty feet below the street curb till a bed of solid rock is struck. When all the caissons are down they will be filled with cement, and on the top of this cement-filled steel frame will be erected octagonal pillars of brick, for a distance of about forty or fifty feet, as support for the cellar of the building. When finished this foundation will stand the pressure of a building thirty-two stories high, or ten stories higher than the one to be erected thereon. It is the greatest work in the line of foundations ever car ried on, and visiting architects and builders should put it down on their sight-see ing list.

The logic is sublime. I charge W. A. Candler with being the cause of my severance from the college. This is the matter pure and simple, and all efforts of Bishop Haygood to dodge the real issue by referring to "Nero's eyes" are only the equivocations of a man who feels that he has no case.

I said nothing about faculty or trustees, or town, as to prohibition. I assert now, as before, most positively that Mr. Candler's long enmity and his threat to drive me from the college are the basis of the whole trouble.

The governor also enclosed the law under which they are issued and the law under which they are issued and concluded his letter to Senator George as "I regard the direction of Mr. Hazen as unwarranted and presumptuous in the ex-treme and cannot think that either the comptroller or secretary would give it his endorsement. The Registration.

The work of the executive committee and the canvass made by the candidates worked up the biggest interest the county has shown in a long time and the registration was one of the largest, as has been said that has been made in a long time. Last night 7,850 residents of the county were qualified to express a choice for the congressional and other candidates. Of that number 6,150 had registered in the seven wards; 1,200 from the county. Then 200 were added after the list had been printed and 200 came in and took certificates showing that they had paid all taxes and were entitled to vote. Of the registrtion the votes are scat-

The Congressional Race.

Naturally the only interest the friends and supporters of Colonel Livingston feel in the fight is the majority he may secure in the boxes tonight. That Colonel Livingone conversant with the politics of Fulton county doubts for a minute. Even those who are fighting him the hardest are willing to admit that he will win. His friends have long ago ceased to hunt for bets that he will or will not win, and have gone to hunting hets that he will win. hunting bets that he will win by big fig-uhes. These bets, however, are hard to

It is useless to talk about the congression al race further than to say that Colonel Livingston will win hands down.

The Legislative Race. race for representative in the legislature is getting warm in some places. For the three positions to be filled there are six candidates and every one of them is known in the county and in the city. Captain E. P. Howell, who has served the people before in the state senate and in many other places where his work has al-ways been well done, is in the race. Captain Howell is known by every man, wo-man and child in the coun-try, and none know him but to love him. At present Saptain Howell is in Washington, where he has been for several days working for the exposition appropriation. His friends in the city asked nim to stay in the national capital and work for the appropriation, promising that he would be cared for at home by his friends.

it was the appropriation for the exposition that Captai Howell was after, and he is in Washington today, working for it, while his friends are here working for nm.

Mr. Thomas B. Felder, another of the candidates, is at home quite ili, and has not been able to be out in some time. Mr. Felder and his abilities are well known by the voters of the county.

Mr. Thomas Bishop is one of the best known and most promising young attorneys of the city, and has friends in every ward who are working hard for him. He is an industrious and hard working young mendation.

Like Mr. Bishop, Mr. Broyles is an attorney who has made his mark in the city. He was once a member of the city council from the third ward, and his abilities as a legislator made the people demand that he make the race for alderman from that section of the city. He made the race and won in a gallopand was then elected mayor tem. Of Atlanta, which position he is now most acceptably filing. Than Mr. Bands. Atlanta has no more popular young man. Captain Dave Vinling is the city, and is one of the recognized leaders of that class. He was brought by the labor organizations and wh. receive the entire support of all of the laboring men of the city and the county. Commercial interest in the race is behind Mr. Charley Brannan, one of the best known traveling men in the state. Than Charley Brannan there is no one who has more friends and the vote he gets will be one of which any man might be proud.

The race for tax receiver is believed by good observers to be one of the closest of the day. For the place there are two tickets in the field.

Colonel A. J. McBride, who was once a member of the general council, is after the place, with Mr. John Gatins has his deputy. Mr. Gatins has been assistant to Colonel. Armistead who is the present incumbent, ever since Colonel Armistes are leaders of the county will be given a service that will be one of the closest of the best and most popular young men of the city. ALL FOR LIVINGSTON.

Standing Room Was at a Premium in the Courthouse.

THERE WERE NO BRASS BANDS.

The Speech of Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb Was a Worthy Effort-Colonel Liv-ingston Was Present.

Enthusiastic from beginning to end was the informal meeting of Colonel Living-ston's friends at the courthouse last night, happened to be present, concluded the short speech that frequent calls forced him make, the deafening applause from six hundred of his supporters was prolonged and straight from the heart.

It amounted to a tremendous ovation, such as any man might well be proud of

The condemnation of Hon. Charles Col-lier, president of the Cotton States and Intactics, abusive and deplorable, employed by The Atlanta Journal, the fact that President Collier, of the exposition com-pany, is also the vice president of The Journal, was spoken of by Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb. The handling of this by the speaker was applauded time and again.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. H. C. Erwin, who was made chairman He made a short talk in which he reviewed the campaign of personalities and abuse that had been indulged in by the Candler ites, and spoke heartily in favor of Colonel Livingston's candidacy, urging his claims with enthusiasm and eloquence. He introduced to the meeting Mr. Thomas R. R. Cobb, who was greeted with tumultuous applause when he mounted the stand. He began by stating that he came with no preparation for a speech save the preparation that comes from a feeling of gratitude and a willingness to do the duty every good citizen owed to Congressman Livingston. Cheers followed this remark, and it was sometime before the speaker could continue.

When he resumed he said: "I am not acquainted with Colonel Livingston, personally, but I know his record, and Chairman Candler never dared touch upon it. (Applause and shouts of "He way afraid," and "He couldn't touch it.") The Atlanta Journal is a paper that I esteem, and I cannot imagine what led it astray in this fight, but I hope on day after tomorrow to find it in the proper place-in the wake of Colonel Livingston. (Great ap-

"What did Charles Collier, president of the exposition company, say? . He said: 'Don't swap horses.' And he was right! We don't want a man that democracy has repudiated! Twice Atlanta and Fulton county have voted against Colonel Livingston, yet he was found warring for the good of Atlanta and the county. I don't think that there is a man in Atlanta base enough to vote against Livingston, whenlonged applause, followed by shouts.)
Twice we have failed to vote for a congressman. Let's do so now. Colonel Livingston is a congressman now, has been one and will continue to be one. (Cries of 'Right you are," "We'll put him through," and "He'll win if votes count!.')

"They have said that he is several kinds of democrat. I know that he is two kindshe is a hustler and a friend to his friends Colonel Livingston is for us and we should be for him.

"Fulton county's note, endorsed as it is by the exposition committee, shall not be permitted to go to protest!" Here the applause was so great and the cries of "No, No" so prolonged that it was several minutes before Mr. Cobb could proceed. "I heard Colonel Candler last night," continued the speaker, "but I failed to hear him answer the questions propounded by Colonel Livingston. When Mr. Candles was making the last part of his fifteen minute talk, there were cries of 'How about the income tax? He replied by saying that he had supported the constitution of the United States. Again the audience wanted to know about the income tax. Candler replied by telling about Andrew Jackson and Thomas Jefferson. Again he was asked the same question by a hundred people. His answer was to eulogize the star-spangled banner. Finally, however, he turned to the people seated about and said something I failed to catch. He must have been talking to a Journal reporter, for I see that paper published his answer. The other questions he ignored. "It has simply reached that point where The Journal is no longer supporting Colonel Candler but is persecuting Colonel Livingston. (Tremendous applause and cries of "It won't do any good.")

All Over the Country This Way.

"I was coming to town on the car today and there were six men, including myself, on board. I polled them and five of the six were for Livingston and the sixth man said that he didn't care wno was nominat ed. I asked one of the voters why he was for Livingston and he replied: 'Because I know Charley Collier and I bank on what the says.' To the same question the other three replied as follows: 'Because The Journal is not treating him right.' 'I know Lon Livingston and he is the man for the place, and will get my vote.' And the last one said: 'Because I was at the debate last night and I'm for the financial piank as Livingston stands on it.' My voice is not raised tonight in behalf of Colonel Livingston because he needs it, but because it is a pleasure to me,

"We should congratulate ourselves on the opportunity that is presented us to wote for Colonel Livingston, and in the name of consistency, in the name of gratitude and in the name of democracy we should accept the opportunity."

In a few more timely words the speaker closed amid much applause. Colonel Livingston Called For. There were calls for Colonel Livingston and he was induced to come forward and was introduced in a few gracious words by Chairman Erwin. The applause that was evoked by Colonel Livingston's presence was prolonged and lasted for a number of minutes.

ber of minutes.

His speech was one that was characteristic of the splendid qualities that enable him to hold his place as he does among the prominent members of congress. He said that he hoped sincerely that the vote of Fulton county would go for him and that he felt that his political arithmetic was wrong if it didn't. He said that he had just come from Campbell county and that it would go for him solid.

When he concluded his speech, which was amid cheers, he held an informal reception and shook hands with those present.

The whole affair was informal and simply showed, without brass bands or advertis-ing dodgers, how the straws are blowing in the wind of the congressional nomination

THE CANDLER RALLY. Hon. N. J. Hammond and Colonel A.
H. Cox Speak at DeGive's.
The last raily of Colonel Milton Candler's friends took place in DeGive's old opera house last night.
The crowd in attendance was neither rge nor small. The pit of the house was omfortably filled, while there was a small prinkling of people in the balcony. The speakers that addressed the meeting ere Colonel N. J. Hammond and Mr. Al-

The speakers that addressed the meeting were Colonel N. J. Hammond and Mr. Albert Cox.

They were introduced to the audience by Mr. W. S. Thomson, the law partner of Colonel Livingston's opponent.

The speeches of both gentlemen were conservative and were entirely devoid of that abuse of Colonel Livingston which has characterized the utterances of some of Mr. Candler's supporters.

Mr. Cox defended the views of Mr. Candler on the silver question and said that the salvation of the country depended on a low tariff and sound money. Speaking of Mr. Candler's record, in congress, he said that the latter voted for laws under which our $400,000,000 of silver, were coined. The only bill favoring the expansion of the currency which he was charged of opposing was not a bill. It was merely a substitute to the bill that was passed and was never considered.

Colonel Hammond did not enter into a

Colonel Hammond did not enter into discussion of the money question. His re-marks were in the nature of an exhortation in behalf of Mr. Candler.

He denied the charge that he had de-feated Mr. Candler for congress by stumping the district and showing up the latter's record in congress. He said that he did not put out a ticket in any county of the district except Fulton, and was chosen as the nominee by the convention after about one hundred and fifty ballots had been

The speeches of both gentlemen were lib-erally applauded, and, judging from the audience, it fairly represented Mr. Cand-ler's entire supporters in the city.

It will be remembered that about ter days ago the directors of the exposition company unanimously requested Captain Howell to go to Washington at once in be half of the exposition, they thinking that he could be of great assistance to Senators Gordon and Walsh on account of his personal acquaintance with so many of the senators, Notwithstanding the fact that Captain Howell had just been announced for the legislature by his friends, he promptly agreed to go to Washington in behalf of the exposition, stating that he would leave his own interests in the hands of his friends.

The following card is sent to the papers of the city for publication simply to plain the fact that Captain Howell is out of the city working in behalf of Atlanta and to ask that in his absence the friends of the exposition and of Atlanta take care of his interest in today's primary. The card is as follows:

"To the Voters of Fulton County-Upon the request of the directors of the Cotton States and International Exosition Com-pany, Captain E. P. Howell went to Washpany, captain E. P. Howell well to Washington some ten days since to look after the bill now pending before congress for an appropriation of $200,000 for a government building and government exhibit at our approaching exposition. He'is still in Washington and will remain there until the bill is finally acted upon. His presence there and his active reallous work has been there and his active, zealous work has been of infinite value to the exposition and to Atlanta. Let us see that his interests do not suffer in his absence. He is working for you and for Atlanta, Work for him and see that his name is on every ballot cast

It is not entirely on account of personal motives that I espouse the cause of Thomas L. Bishop, though I am a warm personal friend of his. I favor him in addition to personal reasons on account of the fact that I believe him eminently fitted and qualified to represent his county in the legislature.

Mr. Bishop is thoroughly identified with the best and most progressive interests of Atlanta and the county at large.

He is well and favorably known in the county, and is possessed of that happy faculty of drawing people to him and of making friends of them.

I sincerely believe that the interests of the people would be absolutely safe in the hands of Mr. Bishop.

He is progressive and successful in his private affairs, and not given to the pursuit of visionary schemes or to the advocacy of radical measures. Such are the qualities that I conceive to be the necessary attributes of a public servant in the legislature.

I am sure I voice the sentiments of hundreds who will vote for Mr. Bishop, whether he receives the nomination or not, though I feel quite confident of his success.

CITIZEN.

It Is Mr. M. M. Welch.

It appears not to be well understood throughout the city which Mr. Welch is the candidate for county treasurer.

His friends desire it to be stated that it is Mr. M. M. Welch, the present councilman from the second ward.

Mr. Welch is extensively and favorably known throughout the city as a man of integrity, fidelity and excellent business qualifications. He has many friends who know him by their association with him during the fifteen years in which he was engaged in railroad service. Many others remember him as the effecient secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce a few years ago. After resigning that office he engaged in the real estate business, first as a member of the firm of Krouse & Welch and later of the firm of Welch and Turman, from which business he retired about a year ago.

His friends are numerous and they know year ago.
His friends are numerous and they know that he is eminently qualified for the responsible position of county treasurer.

Mr. Branan's Race.

To the Voters of Fulton County—My brother, Mr. Charles I. Branan, is a candidate for representative from Fulton county. I urged him not to make the race, but the pressure of his friends was so great that he could not resist. Upon their insistence he has remained in the race and has made a most vigorous campaign. Another rider who showed a big development in speed was Kendall Spear, of Atlanta. He won first in the boys' race in the fastest time of the day for competition in 2:35½. Wheat Declines Under the Pressure of Big Crop Estimates—Corn Follows Wheat. Cotton Four to Five Points Higher.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- Of today's sales of 162,341 shares, 45,700 shares were in American Sugar, 45,245 in Distillers and 19,700 in Chicago Gas, leaving over 52,000 for the entire railway list and the other Industrials. The feature of the market was the heaviness of Distillers, the stock breaking from 20% to 18%. Considerable long stock came out on the way down, and the decline was not checked until just at the close, when there was a rally to 19% on covering of shorts put out early in the covering of shorts put out early in the day for room account. The weakness was due to Washington advices that the compromise on the distilled spirits schedule will be unfavorable for the trust. Chicago Gas dropped 3% to 74% on the announcement that the Chicago common council had given a franchise to the Universal Gas Company the latter to turnive the Company, the latter to furnish the city with gas at 75 cents per thousand. American Sugar first advanced % to 101%, lell to 99%, recovered to 100% and declined to and ed at 99%-the lowest point of the day. The stock is still sensitive to Washington news, the early rise being due to the re-fteration of the old reports that the trust will get the protection it needs, while the weakness near the close was the result of the rumored disagreement of the confer-ences. Bulls on the stock profess to be-lieve that there will be no bill unless the trust is taken care of, and, in the event of legislation failing at this session, the company will go ahead under the other tariff, which is even more than the pro-posed senate pill. The railroad list held well until the last hour or so, when a decline of ¼ to 1 per cent occurred in sympathy with the weakness in the Industrials. Pullman fell 1½ to 15% and Evansville and Terre Haute 2 to 51. The feeling on railway stocks is by no means bearish, and even the professional operators on the short side are not inclined to follow up the weakness of Distillers and Chicago Gas by sales of railway issues. The reported formal disagreement of the tariff conference committee was expected in the view of the wide differences known to exist be-tween the house and senate over certain features of the bill, and, therefore, the bears were unable to make any capital out

Early Morning Gossip. Dow, Jones News Company, by private wire to J. C. Knox, manager—In view of the rumors against Distilling and Cattle Feeding the following point is pertinent: The great bulk of the goods which the company has taken from bond in the past two weeks has sone into second hands, and pany has taken from bond in the past two weeks has gone into second hands, and has been paid for. They were purchased at a price which was an advance of 120c over the lowest quotations which ruled in June, while the compahy is a good deal better off financially with these withdrawals than it was before they were made.

Foreign and Domestic News Company, N. Y Stocks opened extremely feverish, and bout the only strong feature was Sugar, which was bid up by the pool brokers on the assurance that the sugar men are thoroughly satisfied with the outlook.

Chicago Gas was attacked by the roon traders and a number of spot orders were disclosed on the raid, which was based entirely upon the granting of a franchise to a new gas company in Chicago.

Whisky was weak because the tax has been lowered in the joint conference to the house rate of $1.

The Grangers were dull, but inclined to rally as soon as the selling pressure was withdrawn.

The good buying of Richmond Terminal was resumed at a higher level. Except Distilling and Cattle Feeding and Chicago Gas, which were influenced by special causes, the market held firm throughout the morning session. Distilling and Cattle Feeding was the feature, and opinion was divided as to whether the bulk of selling came from the insiders or the bears. The pool brokers took stock openly on the way down to 19c.

Gas declined on the familiar strike or-dinance of the city of Chicago council, which has become so threadbare that little effect was produced.

The feeling in the general list was more bullish and the weakness of Gas and Distill-ing and Cattle Feeding alone prevented a material advance in the railroad list.

Richmond Terminal common was in de-mand on account of the rapid advancement, in which outside brokers report an active positive liquidation was in progress, the familiar tactics of working to disclose stop orders were adopted.

Gas was hammered by Cammack brokers and the selling orders came in competition with the marketing of a block of stock held for western account.

Distilling and Cattle Feeding was steadied

Distilling and Cattle Feeding was steadler at the decline, and the impression prevailed that the liquidation of 25,000 shares for a director and his associates covers about all the stock that was held by weak parties.

Lead was lower on sales by a prominent operator who has been curtailing his lines in all the Industrials.

The course of Sugar reflects the climination of a large short interest, but brokers who usually act for inside parties bought on a scale down.

Some Gossip.

From The New York Financier. A representative of The Financier interviewed the heads of a large number of stock trading firms last week, and found them optimistic to a surprising degree. "I look for a sharp reaction in prices," said one, "as soon as this strike scare ends. The south is showing remarkable recovery from the panic, and thousands of dollars will be coming north for goods where only hundreds were remitted last year. Cotton is a good crop, and Texas will break her record on wheat and other cereals this year. The west ought to be heard from soon. Govern ment reports of crops are encouraging, and, while prices are low, sales will be active. The western roads will experience a grati fying revival of industry."

Other experienced operators talked in a "Serious disturbances neces sitate time for recovery, but the country is convalescing," said another. "We shall see better times by fall, and, once started, prosperity will continue, as it has in the past, for from ten to twenty years."

From The New York Daily Indicator.

Partial returns of 200 railroads, with a mileage of 148,772 miles, show earnings for the first six months of the year, as compiled by The Financial Chronicle, aggregating $576,588,923, a decrease of $74,506,653, or 16.52 per cent, as compared with the previous year. A loss of nearly $75,000,000 is a very bad showing.

Twenty-one railroad systems have lost from $1,000,000 to nearly $9,500,000 each. Penn-sylvania heads the list with a loss of $9,474,871 for five months; Atchlson is next, $5,169,811 for six months; Northern Pacific loses $3,475,470; Union Pacific, five months, $3,142,632, and Reading, five months, $3,125,-

The roads that have lost more than $2,000, 000 each in six months are the New York Central, the St. Paul, the Lake Shore and the Missouri Pacific, and in five months the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Eric and the Baltimore and Ohio. Just 100 roads have reported losses exceeding $100,-

The Local Cotton Market. Market closed nominal; middling 64c.

Atwood Violet & Co.'s Cotton Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. NEW YORK, July 17.—Our cable today gave rather an unfavorable account of the outlook, saying trade was unsatisfactory, and short time being resorted to in some cases. Something developed, however, after the opening which created a better market, closing firm at 2-64d higher than yesterday. The improvement here was as much as 6 points over yesterday's close, of which 2 points were lost. Texas is reported to have had rains in some sections yesterday where a lack of moisture has been complained of, and today Galveston is reported to have telegrams of rains at Brenham and two or three other places. There is nothing new from the Atlantic coast region, so it is presumed that the outlook there is still of an encouraging character. Spot sales at Liverpool are moderate—8,000 bales—but if the reduction of the world's visible supply of American cotton, as well as all kinds to be reported on Saturday next, will be as large as it has been for two or three weeks past as compared with each previous week, would show before the 1st of September that a much smaller supply than was predicted several months ago would be in sight on that date. The amount of new cotton to appear in August will have some influence, whether it is large or small, as it may indicate, as compared with last year and previous years, whether the crop is an early or late one in Texas. Port receipts today 833, against 1,300 last year.

NEW YORK, July 17.—Summary Hubbard, Price & Co.'s cotton letter: Accounts from the growing crop continue to be received of the most favorable character, and telegrams from Texas report that the probabilities are for rain in the bouthern portion of the state, where needed, within the next twenty-four hours. Cables from Liverpool report Manchester dull and depressed and some probability of the mills running upon short time. In spite of all these adverse dispatches Liverpool closes firm at 2-64d above yesterday's prices, and our market continues very steady. This strength in the market is due on this side to the absorption by the New England appliners and continental exporters of the Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

NEW YORK, July 17.—(Special.)—The market stiffened up a little today upon better Liverpool advices. The nervousness of the short interest was very noticeable and the buying was chiefly to cover sales, but while the immediate effect of such buying may be to advance prices, it removes a very important prop from the support of the market and thereby weakens it in the long run. We fear that a substantial and lasting improvement in prices can only be expected as a result of bad news, which at the moment, seems decidedly scare. August today opened at 6.93; advanced to 6.96, and closed steady at 6.94 bid. We favor sales upon railies.

CHICAGO, July 17.—Disheartened and disgusted bulls were the sellers of wheat today. Nobody wants to hold it, now that the pressure of a new crop is beginning to make itself felt. How big the crop is as a matter for individual preferences. The government for individual preferences. The government makes the total yield in the neighborhood of 385,000,000 bushels. The Prairie Faring says 490,000,000 bushels. There are any number of guesses between these two. The trade bulletin's estimate of 460,000,000 The trade bulletin's estimate of 460,000,000 bushels was a matter of gossip today. Probably the weakness of today was the result of pondering over the various statistics, and, with arrivals of new wheat increasing and little, if any, improvement in foreign demand, the most rampant bull was inclined to pull in-his horns today. September opened at from 57% to 57%, sold between 57% c and 57% 651%, closing at 57% bid—a met loss of %6% from yesterday. Corn opened higher and firmer, but weak-

Corn opened higher and firmer, but weakness soon overcame the market. September corn opened at 43% c, sold between 43% 43% and 42% c, closing at 42% 648 c, a net loss of % 6½ for the day. Cash corn was in fair supply, and steady.

Oats—Commission houses who generally do business for that part of the country where oats are extensively grown were selling today. There was not much encouragement in this, nor was there any to be found in the surrounding pits. September closed with a loss of ½ c from yesterday. Provisions—The usual dull, quiet session in product was seen today. At the opening there was a pretense of activity, but it was not lasting. The start was firm on an advance in live hogs. The rest of the day prices ruled steady. The close was unchanged for September pork, 2½ c lower for September lard and 2½ c higher for September ribs.

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter. By Private Wire to J. C. Knox, Manager. CHICAGO, July 17.—It appears quite evident that the new wheat crop will far exceed the most sanguine expectations. Now comes The Prairie Farmer this morning estimating it at 49,000,000 bushels, 346,000,000 winter and 144,000,000 spring. It would appear that this carried weight with some people, for the opening of the market today was dull and with a declining tendency. The principal bearish influences, however, were the easy cables, lower outside markets, liberal movement of new wheat and the government's prediction of light rains in the spring wheat belt. Fluctuations were confined to a decidedly narrow range, September, the most active future, moving merely ½@½c all day long, the principal selling apparently being done by the elevator people and receivers against their purchases of new wheat, taking all in this line that was offered at around 55½c. The exports from India, Balitc and other ports were 3,200,000 bushels; American shipments 2,377,000. Bradstreet's decrease in the visible supply of 2,200,000 bushels had but little effect on the market, which remained dull and depressed, closing at within ½c of the lowest of the day. The easy closing board cables making Liverpool ½ to le lower and the prediction of 300 cars per day receipts by the end of the week doubtless aided in the depression.

Corn opened strong and higher, owing to the continued reports of drought from Iowa and Nebraska. After the shorts were supplied, however, the market became dull and depressed. Shippers report a poor demand, with car lots a slow sale.

Oats were depressed owing to liberal receipts and prospects of a fair movement of the new crop, July being especially weak. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

One of the most netable conventions of the year will meet if Atlanta today. It will be composed of about 135 fine look-ing, well kept and substantial looking men men who are known at home as "judge" and accorded the signified treatment that goes with the title. SCHEDULES ROAD

These gentlemes will compose the secend annual convention of the ordinaries of Georgia. The convention will be called to order at exactly 12 o'clock sharp in the superior courtroom and it is expected that 137 ordinaries will be present.

WILL MEET TODAY.

Over One Hundred Ordinarie Will Gather in Convention.

PRELIMINARY SESSION/ LAST NIGHT.

Many Matters of Interest to Come Before the Convention—A Number of Dele-gates Have Arrived.

The meeting will be one of great interest to the people of Georgia, as the ordiparies will devise a number of measures to better the execution of such laws as come under their jurisdiction.

A number of delegates to the convention arrived in the city yesterday and are quartered at the Kimball. A finer or more distinguished looking set of men have never crowded the arcade of that famous hostelcrowded the arcade of that famous hostelry. And, although they are dignified gentiemen, they are about as jolly and goodnaturel a lot as a man can wish to see.

The first convention of ordinaries was held in this city July 12th and 13th last year. The session was a highly successful and interesting one. All the delegates who attended it were greatly pleased as well as benefited by the convention.

Last year Judge H. W. Bell, of Jefferson cunty, was elected president of the association, and Judge Harlin, of Calhoun, Ga. was chosen secretary. A number of important matters were brought up for discussion. Among them was the question of how and in what mediums ordinaries' advertisements should be placed. The subject of fees also came in for a share of attention.

nual sessions of the chautauqua,

The idea is to construct a building that will seat five or six thousand people. The chautauqua assembly has already been organized and the charter granted. The capital stock is $5,000, about one-half of which has been subscribed, but not paid The following are the officers: Governor W. J. Northen, president. Judge W. R. Hammond, vice president. B. Shepard, general business manager. H. T. Trowbridge, secretary.

J. P. Averill, treasurer. Rev. C. P. Williamson, superintendent of platform.

Advisory Board: Governor W. J. Northen, H. H. Cabaniss, T. J. Kelly, Hon. Joseph Hirsch, Hon. J. C. Hendrix, Captain John A. Miller, Judge W. R. Hammond, ex-Mayor W. A. Hemp hill, Rev. C. P. Williamson, Hon, R. D. Spalding, Hon. L. B. Nelson.

The idea now is to make the assembly a permanent fixture for the purpose of holding annual sessions, and the meeting on Friday night is to put the proposition in this light before the people.

General Manager Shepard thinks that

$10,000 ought to be easily raised in Atlanta. "You see," said he, "the shares are only $25 each and subscriptions can be paid in small installments. "I believe that the enterprise If perma nently organized and managed on business principles will prove a profitable investment. Our season this season, although considerably interfered with by bad weather and other obstacles, paid running expenses. As an institution for instruction and entertainment pro one will question its and entertainment no one will question its merit, to say nothing of it as an attraction

"Atlanta has long needed an auditorium in which to seat large assemblies, and I think it would be an admirable idea to or-Sanize the chautauqua on a permanent basis and locate the auditorium where it would be accessible and convenient for

Mr. Shepard thinks that the time is now ripe for putting the chautauqua on its feet, and he hopes that the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night will attract a large attendance.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

HAPPINESS COMES AFTER YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Terrible Experience of a Well-Known Official's Wife-A Story That Appeals to Every Mother in the

From The Chattanooga, Tenn., Press. No county official in East Tennessee is better known and more highly esteemed than Mr. J. C. Wilson, circuit court clerk of Rhea county, at Dayton, the home of Mr. Wilson. He anjoys the confidence and respect of all classes, and in the business community his word is as good as his bond. Just now Mr. Wilson is receiving heartlest congratulations from his numer-ous friends because of the restoration to robust health of his estimable wife, who has for years been a helpless invalid. Mrs. Wilson's high standing in society, and her many lovable traits of character have won her a host of friends, and her wonderful recovery has attracted wide-spread atten-

As The Press was the medium of bringing to the invalid lady's attention the remedy that has effected her remarkable cure, a reporter was sent to Dayton to interview Mrs. Wilson, in order that the general public might have the benefit of the sufferer's experience and be made aware of the treatment that wrought such a marvelous change in her condition. The reporter was welcomed at the Wilson home, and the enthusiastic lady with becoming reluctance gave the history of her affliction and the manner in which she was relieved:

"Yes," said Mrs. Wilson, "I was for eight years an invalid with one of the most distressing afflictions woman can suffer. For eight years I moped around, dragging myself with difficulty and pain out of bed. My little ones went untrained and were greatly neglected, while I looked listlessly and helplessly at the cheerless prospects before me and them. I suffered the most intense pains in the small of my back, and important matters were brought up for discussion. Among them was the question of how and in what mediums ordinaries' advertisements should be placed. The subject of fees also came in for a share of attention.

This year's convention promises to be more largely attended and more successful in every way than that of last year. No less than Iff delegates—one for each county in the state—are expected to be present.

The object of these meetings is to bring the ordinaries of the various counties of the tention of the various counties of the tention of the various counties of the tention of the various counties of the kindle of the various county, preded Among those present were Julgel, verified Among those present were Julgel, very lackson county; Judge Mobie, of Monore county, and Judge Calboun, of the chart of the various county, and Judge Calboun, of the various county, preded Among those present were Julgel, very lackson county; Judge Mobie, of Monore county, and Judge Calboun, of the chart of the various county, and Judge Calboun, of the various county, preded Among those present were Julgel, very lackson county; Judge Mobie, of Monore county, and Judge Calboun, of the convention were discussed.

"The Queen of Glitter" Presented to a Large Audience Last Night.

GREAT SUCCESS

Miss Gordon, Miss Screws, Miss Ethridge and Others Score a 1 g Juccess-Will Be Presented Agein Tonight

From start to fine h. "The Queen of Clitter" was a decided hit. From the moment the curtain rose on the "G, by Dance" until it fell upon the final scene in fairyland the production was a gen ering success. Despite the threatening which there are the decided as richted as the production with the performance. It had been raining all day, and even within a few hours of the time for the performance, but the management was determined, if possible, management was determined, if possible, to have it put on last night, if it only amounted to a dress rehearsal. It had been put off the night before on account of the weather and they were anxious to show the people of Atlanta what kind of an enter people of Atlanta what kind of an enter-tainment they could give, and they fully justified their claim.

It was the prettiest and most attractive thing of its kind that Atlanta has ever had, and too much cannot be said of the way in which Professor Agostini planned and managed the whole offer. It is to him and managed the whole affair. It is to him in a large measure the unbounded success of last night's performance is due. A large stage had been erected just across the race stage had been erected just across the race track, directly in front of the grand stand. It was decked with evergreens, and the statues and all combined to make a stage of remarkable scenic beauty.

First came the "Gypsy Dance," in which about fifty persons took part. They were all beautifully costumed in real gypsy fashion and their dancing was particularly graceful.

Next, a song by Mr. Percy Lynwood and Miss Ada Byrd, which was rendered with touching effect. They received a most enthusiastic encore, which was richly deserved.

The third act was a scene in fairyland, The third act was a scene in fairyland, with Miss Bessie Tucker as queen, and a most beautiful queen indeed she made, dressed all in white satin, with a golden crown upon her head. During this act little Miss Freeman gave her pretty little butterfly dance, which was very well received. Miss Freeman is a dainty, pretty little creature, and she has fairly won the hearts of the people of Atlanta.

The song and dance of Miss Ethridge, in the fourth act, was the thing that caurif the fourth act, was the thing that caught the crowd. Her song was "Goodby My Honey," and her jolly rendition of it, as well as her clever dancing fairly carried away the crowd.

Too much praise cannot be given to Miss Eunice Screws, of Alabama, whose pretty skirt dance was one of the events of the evening. Her dancing was indeed skillful and very clever, as she appeared all dressed in some light airy sort of stuff, and she re-ceived a warm and enthusiastic welcome from her audience. In the short time she has been in Atlanta, she has become a prime favorite.

has been in Atlanta, she has become a prime favorite.

The singing of Mr. Percy Lynwood in this act also was especially fine. He possesses a remarkably fine voice, as those who went to see "Egyptia" last year can testify, and he seemed last night to even surpass his former efforts. He also sang "Answer," and "Could I but Tell My Love." both of which aided in displaying the rich, mellow voice of his. His acting and singing last year in "Ernandi" had made him ing last year in "Ernand" had made him a prime favorite, but his last night's per-formance has made for him even a warmer spot in the hearts of the people of Atlanta.

The last act was the scene of the death of the Queen of Glitter, Missipher and the Gordon, who had fallen in love with Ernandi, Mr. Percy Lynwood. This act was one of rare beauty and the scenic effect was simply charming. Mr. Percy Lynwood sang "Au Revoir" in this act and was roundly applauded.

Miss Lute Gordon made a most beautiful Beatrice, and her acting showed that she was in full sympathy with her part. She possesses a rare beauty and her cleverness was fully displayed last night.

The dance of little Miss Freeman was very pretty and her costume was very much admired. She wore a dress of some dark, airy stuff, trimmed with silver, and around her waist was a sash elabed with providence.

Those who deserve especial mention for the way in which they rendered their parts are: Miss Ethriage, Miss Eyrd, Miss Freenan, Miss Gordon and Miss Screws. One on the features of the evening was the appearance of Master Bert Clarke, dressed as a girl. He made a very natural looking girl and bore out his part well. In fact all did well, and it's hard to say who did the best.

The same programme will be repeated tonight, and if the weather is fine they will undoubtedly have a crowd that will test ought to have it and I feel sure that they

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock, in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association, there will be a most important meeting of the ladies of Atlanta in behalf of the Ladies Ald Association of the Grady hospital. The invitation is extended by the officers of the Ladies' Ald Association and is general to the ladies of Atlanta. Every lady in Atlanta who is interested in this good work is cordially invited to be present.

good work is cordially invited to be present.

Of course it has been impossible to send invitations to all of the ladies who are willing to lend their aid in this work. Hence. The Constitution, at the request of the officers of the association, Mrs. S. M. Inman being president, takes this occasion to extend a general invitation to all ladies to be present. More than one hundred ladies have already signified their purpose to be at Friday's meeting, but there is room for two or three hundred, and a full attendance is requested. It is a spiendid work which the women have undertaken, and it should receive the hearty co-operation of every woman in Atlanta.

The beautiful operetta given by the young lady guests at the Bider house last Saturday night proved to be delightfully entertaining. An elaborate programme was arranged. The tableaux were very pretty. The young ladies were tastily dressed in white, pink and red costumes. The Misses Zehubar made quite a bit in their parts, also did the Misses Cornell, Elder, Hadrock, Reeves, Daughtry. Miss Marguerite Whitehead sang "Pride of the Ball," which took the audience by storm. To an encore she sang "That's the Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stovall Smith left last week with a party of friends for Cumberland, where they will take their summer outing, and will enjoy the sea breezes and surf bathing for a couple of weeks.

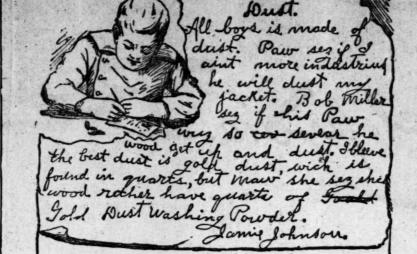

Miss Julia Riordan and Miss Lelia Garcia are spending the summer at Tallulah Falls. They are stopping at the Hotel Robinson.

Mr. Sigmund Weil, of the firm of Eiseman & Weil, who has spent the past two weeks in the clothing market, returned yesterday afternoon. Beechman's Pills correct bad effects of over-eating.

Owing to the unfortunate illness of our distinguished citizen and friend, Hon. T. B. Felder, Jr., he is deprived of the pleasure of meeting many of the voters personally. We respectfully request his friends and all citizens who wish to honor a capable and deserving man, to see that his name is on their ticket for representative in the next legislature. His efforts to build up the industrial interests of Atlanta, the result of which has given employment to hundreds of workmen, his brilliant and manly defense of our honored citizen, General Evans, when the latter was attacked by enemies, his past services to the democratio party, his progressive spirit and splendid abilities, commend him to the people of Atlants and Falton county. He is in the only Clear active possible.

The Best Results-A Complete Education Within the Reach of Old and Young.

There is not an intelligent man in the world but appreciates the value of education and has occasion many times to regret the fact that he has either, failed to take advantage of early opportunities or perhaps has been deprived altogether of the advantages of higher eductional institutions in his earlier life. It is too late for him to 'take up a regular course of study, there being no time to devote to it amid the myriad cares of active life.

But next best thing to a college course is the possession of results of the ripe scholarship of others, and when these results are epitomized the one who has them at command has actually the cream of a college education.

ship of others, and when these results are epitomized the one who has them at command has actually the cream of a college education.

How to get these results is an important question, but it is answered for our readers by putting within their reach that incomparable reference library he Encyclopedia Britannica, and doing it, too, at a figure which makes it available to every one. This work is the combined epitomization of the ripest and best knowledge of hundreds of the ablest minds of England and America.

There is nothing else like it under the sun. Upon whatever subject, what is said may be depended upon as being the latest and most accurate knowledge available. No expense has been spared in the preparation of the new matter which has been added to the original Edinburgh edition, and the busy man or the student who turns to the pages of that work may rest content that what he finds therein is the latest and best, no mater what the topics dealt with.

In a word, the Encyclopaedia Britannica is a college education in itself. The most brilliant college graduates cannot know more than is contained within these pages, and the humblest reader becomes at once on a par with him who has devoted long years to study.

This great educational advantage our readers may put within their reach for the insignificant sum of 10 cents a day. The offer is not one that will be continued indefinitely. Its many advantages do not permit of that. It is simply a method adopted by the publishers for introducing their new edition of this great work. When the introductory offer is withdrawn, our readers will have to pay full retail price for the volumes the same as all others. For this reason no time should be lost in taking advantage of the unprecedented terms offered.

Mr. Paden.

To the Editor of The Constitution: As it seems to be the opinion among many of the people that some physical, mental or moral defect is necessary in a candidate for coroner, and as I do not wish to parade my infirmities before the public I shall withdraw from the race. I believe as a great many do that the calling of the primary so soon is a well directed blow at the democracy of Fulton, if not the entering wedge for its destruction in Georgia. Although I am in favor of the best man for coroner, who I honestly believe is Mr. Paden. He is a confederate soldier and lost a leg in a battle fighting for the south. TOM POWELL CAUGHT.

Deputy Barnes Catches a Young Man Wanted by the Detectives.

TWO OR THREE CHARGES AGAINST HIM,

Thefts-Skipped His Bond and Lett for Texas-Reached Atlanta Yesterday,

"Tom Powell is a thief of the silken-Angered variety. He is smooth, as smooth as the glazed side of the axes he is charged with stealing and much sharper." That's the way Detective Green describes him, and when that officer heard yesterday morning that he had been caught there was a smile on his countenance as big as the huge fire gong at police headquarters. Powell is a stylish-looking young men nineteen years old and his parents are highly respectable and well-known in At-lanta. He has a long series of serious charges to answer for and the probability is that he will not be as lucky in escaping tofore. Deputy Sheriff Barnes was walking down Alabama street yesterday morning and came across the young man on the corner of Alabama and Broad. Officer Barnes tapped him on the arm. "Your name is Powell, That's what it is," replied the young man. "Anything you want?"

"Yes, I want you to come with me," said the officer, taking a firm hold on his arm and escorting him off down the street. Powell was very indignant and appeared highly outraged at such summary proceedings. He was carried to the sheriff's office, where three warrants were found against him, two charging larceny and another for-feiture of bond. Under the guard of several deputies he was transferred to the jail. bond is arranged for.

Numerous complaints were received at headquarters from passengers leaving At-lanta to the effect that their valies had disappeared mysteriously and no trace of them could be found. A drummer from New York lost a handsatchel containing papers valued at $200. Other reports of a similar nature were made and Detective Green began to look into the case. He boarded the first-class passenger coach for Augusta one morning and kept his eyes skinned. A gentleman came in, placed his valise on the seat just in front of the detective and stepped into the smoking car. In a few moments a young man who had been standing on the rear platform walked through the train, seized the vallse and swung from the moving train just opposite Oakland cemetery. Green jumped off also further up the track and followed the fellow to a Decatur street pawnshop, where the arrest was made. This was the first time Powell was arrested and through the influence of his relatives the case was compromised and finally dismissed.

Some months ago a lot of shoes were stolen from J. C. & I. Daniel, on Whitehall street. Powell was arrested with the shoes in his possession. Later on a number of axes were taken from the Clarke hardware store and recovered from Powell. He was arrested and committed on a bond of $300. The case was called, but the young man failed to show up.

It is thought that he went to Texas and remained out there until this week. Powell was seen in the jail yesterday afternoon. He was lying down on a couch and seemed very despondent.

Patrolman Barry had a very lively en-ounter with Ed Moore, a savage looking negro, last night at 10 o'clock and was forced to use both his pistol and club in making the arrest.

Moore is in the habit of whipping his wife and upon numeres occasons has been brought before the recorder upon that charge. Last night he was indulging in one of his conjugal castigations and her screams rent the air for blocks away. Pa-trolman Barry hurried to the place and arrested Moore. While bringing him to the call box the negro jerked loose, drew a knife and made a vicious swipe at the officer, wo jumped back in time to escape the blade. Moore started down the street at a swift gait to the tune of pistol balls. The patrolman emptied his revolver, but all of the shots missed and he gave chase. The negro took refuge in an alley and avas recaptured. He made a second at-tempt to escape and received a good dose from Barry's billy. Before getting to the police station it was necessary to give Mcore several ugly licks over the head.

CAUGHT THE BURGLAR.

Will Wright, an Ex-Convict. Arrest-

Saturday afternoon the residence of Mrs. Riding, on Haygood avenue, just outside the city limits, was entered by a burglar and several articles of value taken. Among other things was a large clock, which had been in the family for a number of years. The matter was reported to the detectives, and Officer Green put on the case. Yesterday he located the clock and in a few minutes found Will Wright, a young negro, who tallied with the description of the theif.

The negro confessed, and Mrs. Riding was notified. Wright was convicted some time ago of the same offense, and had just finished his sentence. He will have his commitment trial before Justice Landrum this morning

> Battle of Atlanta to Be Commemorated Next Sunday, July 22.

VETERANS TO ASSEMBLE AT GRANT PARK

The Confederate Veterans Have Decided to Hold Annual Reunions July 22, Each Year-Next Sunday's Programme.

The confederate veterans will hold grand reunion at Grant park next Sunday afternoon. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Confederate Veterans' Association Monday night. The meeting was held at the Gate City Guard armory, and was presided over by Judge Robert L. Rodgers, while Captain George Forbes acted as secretary.

The occasion for this reunion is the thirtieth anniversary of the battle of Atlanta. This battle was one of the hardest fought in the civil war.

A great many confederate soldiers who are now residing in this city took part in this engagement, and the purpose of the reunion is to bring them all together again. Many old comrades, who have probably been separated for years, will thus meet each other.

rama of "The Battle of Atlanta," which is now the property of the city, is on ex-hibition at Grant park, and the old soldiers can view on canvas the stirring scenes in which they participated.

At the meeting Monday night, it was decided to invite not only confederate veterans to be present, but also to invite all members of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the officers of the United States Third artillery, now stationed at Fort McPherson.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Dr. H. C. Morrison will deliver a sermon to the vet-erans and their friends. After the sermon, erans and their friends. After the sermon, which will be delivered from a platform to be erected near the cyclorama building, the veterans will be shown the painting, "The Battle of Atlanta."

Captain George Forbes has been put in charge of the invitations, while the following is the committee on arrangements: Colonel Thomas, Mr. W. B. Burke and Mr. Martin Nally. These gentlemen will prepare a programme for the occasion, and will look to the comfort of those who attend.

GROWING BRIGHTER.

The Georgia Crop Prospect Continues to Improve.

GOOD REPORT FROM OBSERVER MORRILL

Nearly Every Section of the State Shows an Improvement-Good Rains and Favorable Conditions.

Each week brings some advancement in the crop prospect. The improvement com-menced four weeks ago, and has steadily grown brighter.

This week's report from Weatherman Park Morrill shows considerable advance. These weekly reports are thorough, and give a fair idea of the condition of the crops.

The report published yesterday is as folpress himself as more than hopeful of a renomination in this district," said Speaker Crisp. "He is one of our best men in congress and I am sure has done as much for his people as any other man from Georgia at Washington.

"He seems never to tire of his work and is always doing something for somebody down here in the fifth district. All of the men at Washington declare that he has succeeded in wrenching more offices from the powers behind the scenes than any other or one man, and his people all over the district realize what a hard worker he has been along this line.

"It is amusing to hear anything said against Colonel Livingston with respect to the work he has been doing for the exposition. I am candid when I say that I think he has done but little else since this question was thrown before congress but work for it. He has put himself squarely in the higher branch of congress is acquainted with his endeavors along this line. He has every day doing good service for his peonle. He has put the exposition cause and is every day doing good service for his peonle. He has put the exposition question appears to the proper to done as much the advancement of crops. Although rain has been a favorable week for the advancement of crops. Although rain has been general throughout the state on only one day, Tuesday, the loth, yet showers have fallen at some time in nearly every county. The rainfall has been variable, so that there are points still requiring more moisture, and yet others which are almost drowned out. The temperature has ranged below the normal, which at this time reaches the highest point of the year. Taken as a whole, and, while it is idle to hope for full average yields, the shortage may not be so very great with favorable conditions in the future.

While rain has been well scattered over the northwestern counties during the past has follows:

The past has been a favorable week for the advancement of crops. Although rain has been a favorable week for the advancement of crops. Although rain has been a favora and then harvested for seed. Late beans and cabbage are growing rapidly. With an abundance of rain during the next month, prospects are favorable for an average yield of all garden truck.

The general opinion amongst the farmers of north Georgia is that good-crops will be secured if plenty of rain falls from now on. In a few localities rain is badly needed, both for corn and cotton. What rain has fallen during the past six weeks has been very irregularly distributed; some portions of a county would hardly get a drop, while others would get a good, wetting rain. Consequently the present condition of crops in the different localities of north Georgia are not just the same. In some places corn, are not just the same. In some places corn, "Colonel Livingston is known to be one of the hardest workers in congress. He has a way of making friends with all of the men parched up. Although there are still some few localities in the northeast section which are still suffering for the want of rain, the greater portion of this section has been favored lately with good growing seasons. Cotton is growing, but is small. The growth of grass-land cotton is nothing like it would have been if rain had been plentiful earlier in the season. The outlook for corn remains the same. That of the uplands will, in most cases, be less than half a crop; while that in the lowlands is looking fine and will be a very good crop. Many farmers are through working their corn. Threshers are at work, and the rye crop seems to be threshing out very well. Melons are beginning to ripen, though small. Sweet potatoes, cane and peas, favored with plenty of rain, are doing nicely.

The weather for the past week in the western counties has been all that could be desired for the improvement of crops. Most of the farmer's time is taken up in killing the grass and weeds, which have flourished so well, and laying-by will be in most places a little later than usual. Cotton is in good shape, is growing rapidly and is taking on fruit. Corn, in general, is in fine condition. Upland corn is a failure at a few points. On the boftoms it is as fine as the soil will produce, Gardens are again in a promising condition. Potatoes and peas are growing nicely. Turnips are being sown. Melons are hastening to maturity. Pastures are in fine condition.

In the central counties of Georgia, the past week has been all that the farmers could wish; plenty of rain and sunshine, and crops are improving. All crops are generally good, and with continued fine seasons fairly good crops may be expected. Cotton is receiving its tast plowing, and the whole crop will soon be laid by. It is looking fairly well, save for a little rust in spots; is over knee-high in some places, and is generally well fruited. Melons are being shipped, but in size and quantity they are below the average. A better crop of corn will be realized than was expected a few weeks ago. Farm matured and are being simpled to the kets.

A general improvement in crops is reported in southwest Georgia. Rains have been bountiful, and all crops have been growing vigorously. Farmers seem to be more satisfied with the condition of crops, now, than at any previous time this season; and, without exception, have reported the marked improvement and the green, healthy appearance of crops. The crops now generating especial attention are cotton, corn, cane, sweet potatoes, peas, peanuts and the usual garden vegetables. Except on very low lands, where the ground is too wet, conditions could hardly be better for further rapid growth of these crops. Fruit is very scarce. The season for melons is about gone, and they have not proved to be a very satisfactory crop this year. They were limited in number and small in size.

Enough rain has fallen in the southern Enough rain has fallen in the southern section to make the prospects bright for a fair corn crop. Young corn is growing finely. Cotton, in general, is doing well, but in some fields too much rain has fallen, and caused it to shed. Melon vines have a very good color, and melons are improving. Shipping will soon be over. About all of the sweet potato slips have been set out; the pea crop is up, and both are growing nicely. Some sweet potatoes have been marketed. Sugar cane, rice and peanuts are in good condition.

The farmers of southwestern Georgia are now jubilant over the improved prospect now jubilant over the improved prospect for a good harvest of all their crops. During the past week rath has been plentiful, and all classes of vegetation have grown rapidly. Cotton is looking very nice, with some bolls already full grown. Potato slips and peas are still being planted in large some bolls already full grown. Potato slips and peas are still being planted in large quantities. Reports relative to fruit are meager, but from the few received there are indications that the fruit crop is a total failure except a few apples and peaches on some farms. Corn is generally in excellent condition, and the yield will probably be almost up to the average of last year, both in most up to the average of last year, both in quality and quantity. Gardens are much improved. Sugar cane, since the recent rains, has taken on a more healthy colorand is growing rapidly, while rice is flourishing in all the fields.

held in Atlanta one year from the present. Must not be confounded with common cathartic or purgative pills. Carter's Little Liver Pills are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

To the Editor of The Constitution: As it seems to be the opinion among many of the people that some physical, mental or moral defect is necescal, mental or moral defect is necessory in a candidate for coroner, and as I do not wish to parade my infirmittes before the public I shall withdraw from the race. I believe as a great many do that the calling of the primary so soon is a well directed blow at the democracy of fulton, if not the entering wedge for its destruction in Georgia.
